ARGENTINA OUSTS AIR FORCE HEAD

Commander Relieved of His Post Following Suspected Attempt at Coup

SOME OFFICERS HELD FOR COURT-MARTIAL

BUENOS AIRES, Sept. 24 (AP).—The head of the Argentine Air Force was reported relieved of his command tonight in the midst of a growing dispute between Acting President Ramon Castillo and the Chamber of Deputies over responsibility for a foiled uprising among army aviation officers.

Unconfirmed reports said General Angel M. Zuloaga, the air force commander, had been confined to his home, but the news agency, Andi (it reporting his dismissal said he had asked for it himself.

Zuloaga was quoted as saying he felt he could no longer count on the support of army officials.

DIFFERENCES BY ARMY

Andi's informant said the general had not admitted complicity in any plot, but had considered himself offended by the army's attitude.

President Castillo, acting for President Roberto Ortiz, who has been ill for months, attributed the disturbance to Radical party members, Nationalists and others.

Government officers said the plot uncovered yesterday was of little significance, police reported that a number of lower army and civilian officials were under surveillance.

In widespread precautions against the suspected air force coup the OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP).—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced late today the establishment of direct diplomatic relations with the Argentine Republic and Chile and said the first Minister to Argentina will be Chief Justice W. P. A. Turgeon, of Saskatchewan.

It is expected he will leave for Buenos Aires in the near future, and a statement from Mr King's office

There was no mention of the naming of a Canadian to the post in Chile but Canada's relations with Argentina are in a more advanced stage than with Chile and Mr Justice Turgeon's appointment has been expected pending for some time.

Mr. Justice Turgeon has had a long career at the bar and on the bench before his appointment to the bench he was a member of the Legislature of Saskatchewan and Attorney-General in the Government of that province.

OTHER MANY COMMENTATIONS

"He has served with distinction on a number of important Royal commissions," said the statement. "His intimate knowledge of agricultural problems, and particularly of the grain trade, should serve him in good stead in his new post where those matters are so important and where conditions are, in many respects, not unlike those prevailing in Western Canada."

Mr Justice Turgeon is the son of the Hon. Okesphere Turgeon, who, as a ninety-three, is still an active member of the Senate. His nephew, Gray Turgeon, is Liberal member of the House of Commons for Cartwright and was formerly a member of the Alberta Legislature.

PLAN FOOD RESERVOIR

Britain and Allies Discuss Postwar Problems—All Back Atlantic Charter

LONDON, Sept. 24 (AP).—Britain and her Allies agreed at a formal council today to help construct the framework of a great reservoir of food and other supplies into which hungry Europe may dip "after the Nazi yoke is lifted."

The council, guided by Foreign Secretary Eden and headed by a message from Ambassador John Winant that the United States believes the plan has "great prospective usefulness," adopted the scheme without formal dissent.

The food pool plan was a frank bid for the support of the Allied nations by all the peoples of Europe

FREEDOM AND SUCCESS

"Our declared purpose is to insure that with freedom there will come success at the earliest possible moment to the distressed peoples of Europe," said Mr Eden. "No one can know when this war will end and we should make our preparations for the transition. The measures which we take now may bring some encouragement in the millions in Europe whose present sufferings we cannot prevent, and give them strength of heart to endure—and where they can, to resist."

Although there was no formal demur, the Russian ambassador made little effort to conceal his belief that the Allies had not given their attention to winning the war first.

Russia, he said, believes that "all people will be recognized the necessity of smashing Hitlerite aggression . . . today have one main task—to mobilize all the economic and military resources of freedom-loving peoples in order to attain full and speedy emancipation."

The council, composed of thirty-one members meeting in the picturesque gallery of St James' Palace, also pledged adherence to the "common principles of policy" contained in

CHANGE VIEWS ON NEUTRALITY

American Leaders Predict Virtual Repeal of U.S. Shipping Limitations

WASHINGTON Sept 24 (AP).—There were strong indications today President Roosevelt would request virtual repeal of the United States Neutrality Act next week, and Senator Tom Connally (Dem.-Texas), said he believed American ships should be able to sail the high seas to any port in the world

Mr. Roosevelt indicated at his Tuesday press conference he would ask that the act be changed to permit the arming of American merchantmen. He said that he was seeking to decide in conferences with advisers in what extent the law might be overhauled

WOULD LIFT BAN

It was reported that Administration officials were urging the President to recommend also the elimination of the provisions prevents American ships from entering belligerent ports or "combat areas" defined in Presidential proclamations.

Connally chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee predicted that "the Neutrality Act will be amended in important respects," and added in a statement that it might be completely repealed except that it carries some desirable provisions such as that providing for government control over munitions exports.

MELBOURNE Sept 25 (Thursday) (CP).—The House of Representatives early today rejected by the margin of one vote a virtual motion of censure moved by Opposition Leader J. B. Curtin against the Government. The vote was 33 to 31.

The motion arose from allegations that the Government was using a secret fund for improper purposes, in reference to charges of misuse of funds set up to combat subversive activities. The motion was launched after Prime Minister A. W. Fadden explained details of the fund.

It was admitted during the debate that money had been paid to trades union leaders for "propaganda purposes." Government members supported there was a plot to undermine the new administration.

RUSSIANS CRACK NAZI PUSH ON MURMANSK; GAIN AT LENINGRAD

New German Offensive Against Far-Northern Port Smashed — Stubborn Fighting Along Whole Front—Soviet Admits Concern Over Donets Area — Enemy Claims Troops Trapped

MOSCOW, Sept. 25 (Thursday) (AP).—Soviet troops smashed a new German offensive against the Far Northern ice-free port of Murmansk and fought back stubbornly along the whole front, the Russians said today.

Dispatches from the Northern front to the official military organ, Red Star, said Murmansk, one of the most important harbors in European Russia, was still in Soviet hands.

The early Thursday communique said fighting continued along the entire front and reported seventy-five German planes shot down for a loss of twenty-five Red aircraft Tuesday. Soviet patrol boats were said to have sunk a German transport in the Gulf of Finland.

AROUND LENINGRAD

Besides announcing failure of the Nazi campaign to seal all of Russia's European gateways to aid from abroad, Red Star said defenders of Leningrad had beaten the Germans further back in recapture of a position on the city's approaches. Nazi attempts to retake the position were said to have been broken.

Moreover, military informants reported the Red counter-offensive at the centre still unchecked, and said that far to the south about Odessa, attacking units of two Rumanian infantry divisions had again been driven back in wild disorder.

The long and bitter struggle for Murmansk started in July and Red Star, in telling for the first time some of the details of the campaign, but the Russians forced the German drive on the defensive through the whole of August.

Then, reinforced by Blackshirt Finnish and mountain regiments transferred from Norway the Nazis opened their second offensive in which they lost 800 dead in the first day's action and at least 62,000 by mid-September.

CONCERN OVER DONETS

As to the area protecting the industrial Donets River basin, where the Southern Russian armies were campaigning to ask attempts to hold the strongest of all the Nazi offensives, there was frankly expressed Russian concern. Beyond the Donets lie the bases from which the Germans might, even in spring upon the Caucasian oil fields and the

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Victoria Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1941, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, Sept. 24 (By Cable).—Leningrad's defenders are beating back all Nazis attacks and causing the besiegers tremendous losses. In the central fighting zone Marshal Timoshenko's troops retain the initiative and are pushing back the enemy around Smolensk. The battle around Kiev proceeds confused, but a large part of Marshal Budenny's forces, which Berlin alleged had been annihilated, have escaped the German ring.

Inside Leningrad, says The Times' Stockholm correspondent, water and electricity supplies have been interrupted. From the Finnish side of the Gulf of Finland the assault on the city by naval gunnes is terrifying, spectacle of shells and bombs constantly exploding.

There is no corroboration of German stories of disaster in the Red fleet in the Baltic. Ossel Island has not been taken, though sharp fighting continues there and it is possible the Russians may withdraw both from Ossel and Dagoe.

Timoshenko's counter-attacks around Smolensk are the most serious to the south, as far as Odessa, the Russian base in the Black Sea, with Odessa as the only firm island.

There is still much fighting around Kiev, but the main body of the Red forces there appear to have checked the German drive towards Kharkov from Poltava. However, it is likely that the invaders, when they receive reinforcements, will make fresh attempts to reach the Don River Berlin was laying off anything but greatly assisted in the capture of Kiev.

According to The Times' correspondent on the German frontier, the Germans are finding the cost of holding Finland considerable and operations are proceeding only one step at a time.

The city's early seizure is vital for the invaders if they are to have troops for a rush southward to bear on other fronts, particularly Smolensk. German figures of losses are unreliable.

The Churchill Cabinet, says The Times' diplomatic correspondent, has sent a note to the Finnish Government that if it invades purely Soviet territory, Finland will be treated by the Allies as an open enemy both now and when the time comes to make peace

Many Finns hoped for a truce when the armies reached their old frontiers, but Field Marshal Mannerheim's military officers decided fighting must go on.

Editorially, The Times says the Bolshevik determination to treat Leningrad as Madrid was a big part of her productive capacity would be fatal to Germany as the war is daily becoming greater.

Any easy-going optimism, the Times adds, that the United States will "do the job for us must be dispelled. We must help Russia to fight on as magnificently as ever, and the needs every ounce of assistance Britain can give her

The attack on Gibraltar by Italian torpedo boats, says The Times naval correspondent, caused the loss of one hull in the harbor, but failed to damage other damage and, as usual, grossly exaggerated

ON ROUND OF INSPECTIONS

Canadian Newspapermen Visit Coventry and See Aircraft Factory Workers

COVENTRY, Sept. 24 (CP).—Canadian newspaper representatives beginning a round of inspections of wartime Britain, visited bombed Coventry today and saw factory workers producing aircraft and met Canadian airmen at a Royal Air Force station

On their first trip away from London the journalists spent the morning in Coventry, met civic and auxiliary services officials and saw the ruins of this town, blasted many times by the Nazis.

They were greeted at a civic reception by Mayor J. A. Moseley and other city officials and learned from Mrs Pearl Hyde, senior officer of the Women's Voluntary Service, of the part Canadians played in helping the victims of the bombings. She told them 17,000 persons in Coventry were given clothes by the Canadian Red Cross.

SPEAKS FOR VISITORS

Canon C. Chamberland, of Quebec, one of the members of the newspaper party replied to the speeches of welcome on behalf of them and said that French-Canadians are peculiarly proud to be fighting beside Britons

After the reception, the party, escorted by the Bishop of Coventry, went to the Cathedral where Henry P. Dowler, Saint John, N.B., placed a wreath at the foot of the altar, built of stone from the ruins and surmounted by a cross made from charred wood from the beams of the ancient Cathedral.

Bishop R. J. Renison, Toronto, in a brief address to civic and church officials accompanying the party, said that Coventry was symbolic of the people of Coventry's hope and faith in the future.

GIVEN MEMENTOES

The Cathedral provost, Very Rev R. E. Howard, presented to each of the Canadians a cross made of nails found in the ruins.

Bishop Renison will take back to Canada one of these crosses for Most Rev. H. C. Owen, Anglican bishop of Toronto and Anglican Primate of all Canada

The Canadians inspected the ruins of the bombed Bishop's Palace, Cathedral ruins, and saw scenes

Every man and woman engaged in tank construction is pulling his and her weight to the utmost in the great effort to help the Russian allies."

During the past few weeks thirty-five persons have been executed either as hostages or on other grounds. Last night six persons were executed by a special anti-Communist court of spreading party propaganda and were sentenced to prison terms running as high as twelve years.

Strict air raid precautions were ordered in Paris and vicinity yesterday.

The new machine is described as "vastly superior" to the latest German single-seater planes.

Stock Exhibits Are Of High Quality in Saanich Exhibition

H. E. Burbidge Takes Prizes in Jersey Section, While R. Rendle Captures Holstein Awards—James Turner Wins in Horse Section

WHILE planes droned overhead and farmers paraded their stock before judges in nearby enclosures, Mrs. W. C. Woodward welcomed visitors to the seventy-third annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society yesterday afternoon.

Throughout the day the Agricultural Hall, filled with exhibits, and the grounds were crowded with visitors from the surrounding district, Victoria and other Island centres.

It was the final day of the fair, which opened Tuesday with the judging of poultry, eggs and interior exhibits. The majority of yesterday's entries were from the peninsula area and consequently prize winners were again almost exclusively Saanich exhibitors.

WIN MANY PRIZES

In the horses section, agricultural class, James Turner, Royal Oak, was the outstanding winner and captured the Dr S F Tolmie Challenge Cup for the best team exhibited.

H E Burbidge, Royal Oak, won firsts in most of the Jersey section cattle classes, while Ralph Rendle captured all the Holstein awards.

Mrs. Woodward, wife of Lieutenant-Governor W C. Woodward, opened the fair with a brief address. She congratulated exhibitors who had won and hoped that those who had lost "would not feel too badly about it."

She regretted that His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, who had been invited to open the fair, was unable to be present. Mrs. Woodward was introduced by G. T. Michell, and was accompanied on the platform by Lieut.-Col. Hugh Allan, aide-de-camp to the Lieutenant-Governor, and Miss Ruth McLean, her secretary, and by directors of the fair and their wives.

Mr. Michell commented on the high standard of the exhibits and noted that the society was again fortunate in being favored with fine weather. Reeve L. H. Passmore, of Saanich Municipality, also spoke.

GAMES AND SPORTS

Apart from the exhibits of horses, cattle, sheep, swine and rabbits, all of which drew their quota of admirers, the main attractions of the afternoon were the Highland games, the children's sports and horse riding events.

Packed close around the platform spectators were part of a many-sided picture that unfolded with the opening of the piping and dancing competitions. The platform was placed immediately in front of the Saanich Pioneer Society's Hall, built of logs. Against this rough but picturesque background the pipers paced in stately stride as they skirled out their Scottish airs, and brilliant tartans dipped and flared as the light-footed dancers stepped through their routines. Bombing planes from Patricia Bay floated overhead, their great silvery wings glistening against the cloudless sky.

It was a great day for the school children, who took part in a sports programme that began early in the afternoon and ended shortly before their buses left the grounds at 6.30.

BEST HORSEMAN

A large section of the spectators was attracted to the saddle horse display. Leading prize-winners were horses owned by Mrs George Westinghouse and W. D. Michell. J. A Steward and Mrs. Westinghouse won special prizes for best man and woman riders.

The Jersey exhibit was described by O. C. Evans, Jersey field man for the Western Provinces, as the best in the last five years, both in quality and the number of entries.

Prizes won by Mr. Burbidge's herd included junior and grand champion bull, junior senior and grand champion cow, dairy herd, bull any age, two cows, three years or over, and two cows under three years; best herd of four females, any age, owned and bred by exhibitor, the Brackman-Ker Challenge Cup for Jersey get of sire, and the Fordham Johnson Cup for the best Jersey herd.

SIDNEY MAN WINS

A W Aylard, Sidney, won the City of Victoria Challenge Cup for the cow with the R.O.P. record. His entry was Golden Standard's Marie, holding the Medal of Merit record for 743 pounds of fat in 305 days.

Other exhibitors were Ian Douglas, Reginald Thompson, and Malcolm A. Doney, all of Saanichton, and Miss Grace Moses, Sidney.

In winning all Holstein awards Mr Rendle's accomplishment was notable. According to Dr J Berry, judge, there had been a great improvement in the Holstein herds exhibited at the fair in the last several years.

The display in the rabbit section was larger than last year, according to Frank Boucher, the judge. Innisfail Rabbitry, Saanich, was the largest exhibitor and won the majority of the prizes. Other prize winners were Rev. P. L. Chapman and Phyllis Staverman in the children's section.

First prize for the registered sow, any age, was won by L. R. Johnson, Saanich; other prize winners in the swine section were Sydney Pickles, Sanich, who captured two firsts, and Mourie Michell.

MANY IN PIPING

Eleven pipers were entered in the competition, more than last year, officials said; but the number of entries in the dancing events was down. Ian MacKinnon, Vancouver, was outstanding in the piping section, winning firsts in the strathspeys and reels, and the prize for the "best dressed laddie in Highland costume." Patricia Sprot, Victoria, and Jack Low, Duncan, were also prominent in the prize winning division.

In the dancing events, Beverley Hamilton, Gordon Head, won the Thomas Chalmers Cup, for girls twelve and under, with Mabel McAllister, Victoria, second.

Leading prize winners in the sixteen and under class were Joan Auchinbole and Georgina Moore, Victoria, and Georgina McPhail, Vancouver. Mavis Manzer, Vancouver, was the outstanding junior.

Study of Mare and Foal

"A Proud Mother" is the apt title of this photograph, awarded honorable mention in The Colonist's August competition. The picture was taken by Mrs. N. Folbigg, 2064 Neil Street, and indicates the variety of subjects covered by prints entered in the contest.

THREE NOMINEES IN CITY RIDING

known in the city. Major Hunter and Alderman McTavish, a great-grandson of Sir James Douglas having taken a leading part in public affairs. Mr Skillings, owner and manager of the Victoria Baggage Company, is prominent as a member of the younger business community and is active in educational, athletic and other circles.

Major Hunter criticized the Administration for calling an election in the middle of serious times in the war, pointed to the expenditure of $500,000 in what he described as a wildcat oil scheme in the Peace River, and to expenditures approximating $36,000,000 per annum under conditions which gave the people no real measure of relief. Instead, he said, the province's full resources should have been husbanded to enable the maximum effort in the war. Alderman McTavish pledged his sincere effort in the campaign. Mr Skillings said he had no axe to grind, and believed that the time had come for the people to take a vigorous stand in defence of their rights.

DEFENDS PLATFORM

Mr. Anscomb conveying felicitations from Oak Bay on the selection of a strong slate of candidates took up the Hinchliffe issue. The Conservative platform, he said, had been most carefully considered, was widely based on the true needs of the province and would be carried out to the letter if the party were returned at the polls—including an independent highway commission. An administration that was spending close to $40,000,000 a year, which had evaded its responsibilities in connection with the Rowell Commission, and which sought now by promises of roads and other devices to retain office would find an aroused public waiting for it at the polls, Mr Anscomb predicted.

Lieut.-Col Macintosh, Saanich Conservative candidate and former member for The Islands, declared the Administration was seeking a "mandate" for a war effort which had not, in fact, existed. There had been much noise, a good deal of propaganda, and very small effort in any practical direction on the part of the Province at a time when Empire affairs were in need of every resource that could possibly be mustered. It would require more than the promise of a Jasper-Prince Rupert road to condone such want of action, and no action meanwhile, was being taken with the pressing need of organization for post-war employment and the rehabilitation of men now offering their lives in Canada's cause, Lieut.-Col Macintosh said, in conclusion.

R. L. MAITLAND, K.C.

Rising late in the evening after the selection of candidates and other business, Mr Maitland deferred a full statement of the party's platform, which he said would be given by himself at Vancouver, in a broadcast Friday evening.

The platform, Mr Maitland continued, had been prepared after a three-year study of the express requirements of British Columbia, aided by the best technical advice. It was insistent upon a full war effort, in so far as the Province was concerned, on active steps now to arrange for post-war problems of settlement, distribution and the use of natural resources and in the elimination of costly and wasteful experiments which had produced no result whatever.

For twelve months he had refrained from all political speeches; but, rather had spoken in Federal bond and other drives in aid of the war effort. He had assumed that the administration in Victoria would forego political advantage and make a genuine effort with the best that the province could produce. This had not been done, and the people were aware that it had not been done. There had been an expensive parade to Ottawa to say "no" to the Rowell Report discussion. There had been a continuation of useless policies and excuses in place of positive action.

The administration had achieved a reduction in the four Victoria seats to three in the Legislature, Mr Maitland declared, and for fifteen months after the declaration of war the administration had continued in the same old party way. All over the province, the people were tired of what they saw and were prepared to take a firmer stand on the issue. It was a real issue, the greatest that had ever faced the electors.

One of the first things to be done was to take the highway system out of politics, and prepare for a proper system of defence and other roads in British Columbia. The Conservative party stood pledged to that course, and was not to be barracked off it by red herrings, or by any other means, Mr Maitland said. Mining, forestry, agriculture settlement, and post-war problems would be dealt with expressly at another time, the Conservative leader said, in conclusion.

Government ordered all military planes grounded until Saturday.

OCCUPATION EXTENDED

Military occupation was extended to an aircraft factory at Cordoba, in the heart of Argentina, as well as to every army airfield in the country.

The War Ministry ordered detonators of bombs removed and machine gun ammunition at the airfields put under guard.

Castillo declared that "absolute tranquility" prevailed. A Cabinet meeting to discuss a Congressional resolution censuring German Ambassador Edmund von Thermann was postponed until War Minister General Juan Tonnazi returns from Chile.

Court - martial proceedings impended against some twenty army aviation officers arrested in a swift move which officials said frustrated the plot.

POLICE LEAVES DENIED

Leaves were denied for Buenos Aires police, two regiments of infantry and the army school for non-commissioned officers.

The army sent new commanders to the airfields to check on a quantity of missing ammunition.

Officials declined to discuss Congressional charges that the plot was directed in some way against the legislative committee, which has been investigating anti-Argentine activities, notably Nazi ramifications.

The arrests were made at the airdromes of Cordoba and Parana, cities which have large German populations, and which were the scenes last month of round-ups of suspects in an alleged Nazi plot.

Dinner Held for Chief Justice Turgeon Going to Argentina Post

REGINA, Sept 24 (CP) — Chief Justice W F A Turgeon of Saskatchewan, whose appointment as first Minister to Argentina was announced late today by Prime Minister King, told members of the bench and bar of this province at a farewell dinner tonight he had "no desire for a change and were it not for the fact we are living under conditions of war nothing would have induced me to leave my present post."

"This is the severest trial of my life," he said.

A telegram from Prime Minister Mackenzie King was read to the gathering, in which Mr King paid tribute to the outstanding service which had been given by Chief Justice Turgeon in many fields in Saskatchewan and in behalf of the Dominion.

PRINCESS VISITS EASTERN PLANTS

MONTREAL, Sept. 24 (CP)—Princess Juliana of The Netherlands today visited the plant of the Canadian Power Boat Company Limited here and watched the construction of motor torpedo boats for the Royal Netherlands Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy and rescue boats for the Royal Canadian Air Force.

The royal party was conducted through the plant by Hubert Scott-Paine, noted British speed-boat racer and designer of the boats.

The Princess saw the massive engines used to drive the boats through the water at express train speeds. She saw girls in the electrical shop making instruments and electrical equipment. Aside from the engines and the radio the boats are entirely fabricated in the Power Boats' shops.

Commission to Sit at Nanaimo—Dangers of Electric Welding Debated

Mr. Justice Sloan's Royal Commission on the Workmen's Compensation Act will sit in the Nanaimo Courthouse at 2 o'clock this afternoon and proceed to Vancouver next Monday, to remain there until all suggested amendments and complaints have been heard. Sessions of the commission closed here yesterday afternoon.

Witnesses included Archibald Clyde, representing the Boilermakers and Iron Shipbuilders' Union, and J. W Shable. Mr. Shable ... representatives of the Workmen's Compensation Board, labor, and the Victoria Machinery Depot Co., Ltd., to investigate the situation and see what could be done towards eliminating the harmful effect of the gases. Board representatives promised an immediate probe.

James Lackie, on behalf of the Longshoremen's Association, urged measures to speed up payments to injured workmen. He also suggested that compensation amounting to 80 per cent of a man's wages be paid.

Prominent Banker Is Visiting Victoria

JACKSON DODDS, O.B.E.

GENERAL manager of the Bank of Montreal, arrived here yesterday in the course of a tour of Western Canada. He is returning to the Mainland today.

BANK HEAD IN VICTORIA

J. Dodds, General Manager Bank of Montreal, Here On Business

Jackson Dodds, general manager of the Bank of Montreal, arrived in Victoria yesterday morning on one of his periodical tours of Western Canada to study conditions on the spot and discuss business matters with the bank's regional superintendents and branch managers whom he will meet at central points.

Beyond expressing his genuine pleasure at revisiting Victoria and meeting old friends again, Mr. Dodds had nothing to say for publication, it being the practice of the bank after making an exhaustive study of business conditions to cover the situation in the country at large in their report to shareholders at the annual meeting held early in December.

En route to Victoria Mr Dodds traveled by air to Chicago and San Francisco, where the bank has operated branches for many years. He said that the people he met there were under no delusion as to the vital importance to the United States of the outcome of the war. He is returning to the Mainland today.

After a short illness, there passed away yesterday at St Joseph's Hospital, Mrs. Elizabeth Forsyth, of 843 Fort Street. Mrs Forsyth, who was sixty-two years of age, was born in Dublin, Ireland and came to this city twenty-nine years ago from Edinburgh, Scotland. She was a member of the Eastern Star, and her passing will be keenly felt by a wide circle of friends.

She is survived by her widower John at the family residence, Fort Street; one son, Jack, Nanaimo, and two daughters, Helen, at home and Mrs Ronald Cuming, in this city.

Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from St John's Church, Quadra Street. Rev. George Biddle will officiate assisted by Archdeacon Robert Connell. Interment will take place in the Royal Oak Burial Park. S. J. Curry & Son have charge of arrangements.

Court of Appeal

Victoria Sittings

The court reached the end of the list yesterday morning and adjourned sine die.

On opening, the court rendered judgments dismissing the appeals in Rex vs Lewis and Rex vs Beaver & Jones, and allowed the appeal in Rex vs. Heinrich.

The court then heard the last appeal appearing on the docket, Rex vs. Gottlieb Sohar (otherwise known as Joseph Refi). W K Banton appeared for the appellant-defendant and M B Jackson, Esq., K.C., for the Crown.

The defendant was charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations and pleaded guilty before Magistrate Wood. He was sentenced to six months for having in his possession a sketch of the harbor of Immingham on the East Coast of England, and was picked up at Esquimalt aboard the Swedish ship Havelland, and first gave his name as Joseph Refi. He finally admitted he was Gottfried Sohar and a German.

Mr Banton, on opening, stated his appeal was really against sentence, but he had not applied for leave to appeal. The Chief Justice expressed his willingness to hear the application then and there, but reserved his decision until he heard the argument on appeal.

The main ground stressed by Mr. Banton for reduction of sentence was that the defendant had now served four months and if the sentence was reduced to this term he could immediately appear before the Internment Board, and if allowed, join his ship when it docked at Victoria next month. Mr Jackson, for the Crown, strenuously objected to shortening the sentence and was upheld by the court.

The Chief Justice stated the court would not interfere and dismissed the appellant's application for leave to appeal.

B.C. Municipal Union Asks for Taxation Relief

Convention Stresses the Need for New System of Meeting School Costs and Serious Study of Post-War Problems—Resolutions Offered by Victoria Are Endorsed

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, Sept. 24 (CP).—The Union of British Columbia Municipalities closed its thirty-eighth annual convention at this Fraser Valley resort late today on a note of serious concern for expected postwar emergencies and for the "excessive load of taxation" on the municipalities of the province. The convention strongly endorsed a call for immediate action on both problems.

The convention approved unanimously a resolution by Alderman D. L. Jones, of Kelowna, that a national committee of representatives of the Dominion, the provinces and the municipalities of Canada be set up to study post-war problems. The committee would give particular attention to the re-establishment in civil life of Canada's soldiers, sailors and airmen.

The incoming executive was instructed to set up a standing committee to study particulars of expected problems in British Columbia after the war. The committee would communicate its data to the proposed national body which would plan a Dominion-wide rehabilitation programme.

LOAD OF TAXATION

Regarding taxation, the convention approved a resolution pointing out that the union "has drawn to the attention of the Government, the excessive load of taxation arising from school costs and other social levies" and resolved that the union "again urge the Government to remove the cost of education from the land and improvements."

This resolution met with the approval of E. D. Barrow, director of the British Columbia Federation of Agriculture, who addressed the convention briefly, asking the union to act on behalf of British Columbia farmers to obtain relief from the tax burden.

The union also called for the imposition of daylight saving time in the province again next year, approving a Kelowna resolution asking that "fast time" be instituted from the first Sunday in April until the last Sunday in September next year. The motion was deadlocked on the first vote, but passed by a two-vote margin on the second show of hands.

SUPERANNUATION ACT

Heated debate developed over the city of Trail resolution asking for revision of the Municipal Superannuation Act to allow a pensioner to continue working upon reaching retirement age and still receive his full pension. It pointed out that at present, if a pensioner finds employment, the service portion of his pension is cut off while he is working. The resolution was finally referred to the executive.

Alderman E. Williams, of Victoria, after an exchange of words with Alderman Halford Wilson, of Vancouver, piloted through a resolution calling for mechanical inspection of all second-hand cars before a licence is granted, and for compulsory public liability insurance on all such cars. The resolution was split into two parts after much debate on the convention floor, but both sections were endorsed by large majorities.

VICTORIA RESOLUTIONS

Two other resolutions were put through by the Victoria delegation, which included Mayor Andrew McGavin. He first asked the Dominion to exempt janitors and all employees of the Board of School Trustees except teachers and all permanent employees of the Board of Library Commissioners, from the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The other Victoria resolution endorsed, asked the province to take over control of buildings erected in unorganized districts where there is no civic or municipal authority, and to remove unsightly buildings from such territories if they are adjacent to any municipality or main thoroughfare.

A Nanaimo resolution, which would have asked the Provincial Government to take control of health services in the province was amended. As approved it asks the Government to encourage the formation of public health units and the functioning of present units by increasing provincial assistance.

HOSPITAL TAXATION

A New Westminster resolution aimed at gaining tax revenue from private hospitals by amending the Municipal Act which now exempts all hospitals from taxation. All public hospitals, municipally-owned institutions and charitable hospitals, would remain exempt from tax.

E. H. Bridgeman, deputy minister of municipal affairs and inspector of municipalities addressed the closing convention session briefly, and issued a call for reports from the various municipalities on post-war problems. He said a Dominion committee already is functioning at Ottawa, studying problems that will arise after the war, and they had requested information from British Columbia and other provinces.

Interviewed later, Alderman Jones of Kelowna, said his move for a national committee on post-war problems did not overlap the committee already functioning in Ottawa. He said the committee he proposed would have representatives from the municipalities, the provinces and the Dominion, and this would be in closer touch with problems in the various districts in the country.

LOSES LIFE IN TRAM ACCIDENT

George Hickman, Fifty, 841 Old Esquimalt Road, Is Killed at Crossing

A street car caused fatal injuries to George Hickman, fifty, 841 Old Esquimalt Road, at the intersection of Government and Johnson Streets at 7.45 o'clock yesterday morning. An inquest will be held in Sands Funeral Chapel.

A police report stated that Mr Hickman was crossing from the east to the west side of Government Street within the pedestrian lane when the traffic control signal changed from red to green, and was struck by the street car, which was operated by Thomas Leahy and dragged fifty-nine feet in a southerly direction. He sustained head injuries and a deep cut over the left eye.

Police rushed him to the Royal Jubilee Hospital where he was attended by Doctors Samuel Janowsky and H. L. Dobson. He died at 8.10 o'clock.

Mr. Hickman, who was a landscape gardener, was born in Liss, Hampshire, England, and had been a resident of Victoria for the past thirteen years, coming here from Australia. He is survived by his widow; one daughter Mary Dianna, aged five, at home; one brother James, in London; also brothers and sisters in England. Mr Hickman served overseas in the Great War.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at 2 p.m. in Sands Mortuary Limited. The remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

WARTIME HOUSING IN ESQUIMALT

Whatever is done under the Wartime Housing Act in the Esquimalt Municipality should be governed by the desire to aid the war effort by the parties concerned. This is the attitude expected, both from the Council of that municipality and from those representatives of Ottawa who have the matter in hand. At present any plan is in abeyance because at the latest meeting between Reeve Lockley and the Council, on the one hand, and a representative of the Wartime Housing Board, on the other, no final decision could be reached. The site for workmen's cottages, under discussion at this meeting, was a piece of acreage on Colville Road owned by the municipality. A majority of the Council refused to deed this property to the Federal Government. In exchange for securing such a deed, Ottawa is willing to pay the municipality $24 per annum on each of the smaller cottages and $30 a year on each of those of a larger size. The cottages it is proposed to erect will cost from $2,500 to $3,000 each. In the proposal put forward for a settlement to be constructed on this site the Dominion Government will meet all expenses in making the necessary connections for sewage, lighting, water and telephonic facilities. After the War the cottages will be offered for sale, if not previously purchased by the workmen to be housed therein, and once they come into private ownership they will be taxable on the basis of whatever is the tax rate in the municipality from year to year.

This land, so far as the expenditure of the taxpayers' money is concerned, is very much preferable to that involved in another proposal that the Wartime Housing representatives are also considering. This is to purchase acreage, mostly rocky ground and requiring some clearing, lying adjacent to the twelfth fairway of the Gorge Vale Golf Club. The property in question is situated some distance from a main road. The purchase price would be approximately $175 an acre, but this would be a mere fleabite of the expenditure proposed. To begin with, a road would have to be built to and through the property; water supply, lighting and telephonic facilities would have to be carried a considerable distance and a septic tank system installed. As well, much preparatory work would have to be done to make sites available for workmen's cottages. That is not all. The proposal also includes the landscaping of the property so that it may present a most attractive appearance. The land, once coming into possession of the Dominion Government, would be tax free. The expense of the project to the taxpayers of the Dominion on this site would, in every likelihood, exceed $200,000.

Of these two proposals that whereby the Colville Road property could be deeded by the municipality for wartime housing is the one most likely to meet the wishes of the people of Esquimalt. That is so because, to begin with, the municipality would derive some revenue. It is so, too, because the housing plan would be made possible at less expense since this property is cleared and therefore ready for the construction of cottages. It is easily accessible to sewage, water, lighting and telephonic facilities, and the expense in making the connections would be borne by the Dominion Government. In this time of crisis it is the duty of the municipality to facilitate negotiations that in their outcome will promote economies. The impression must not get abroad that Esquimalt Municipality is placing any obstacles in the way of a wartime housing plan. That suggested for the Colville Road property is the one which alone will bring in any revenue to the municipality. No sale of this acreage for any other purpose is in sight.

The Esquimalt Council could well approve the deeding of this land to the Dominion Government, rather than force that authority to engage in a much more expensive scheme, and one not warranted in the circumstances when there is reverted land available for the purpose of sites for workmen's cottages. The Council can rest assured that, after the War, the Dominion Government will be only too anxious to sell any properties it has acquired for wartime housing. These properties, as they are sold, will become taxable. Moreover, the Esquimalt authorities will then have the knowledge that through their action in this time of crisis they have aided in wartime production, and at the minimum of sacrifice of municipal interests. This is not a time to "hold up" the Dominion Government for better terms in such negotiations, or to force that authority into wasteful expenditures. It is a time for the utmost co-operation between all parties concerned in all measures relating to any branch of wartime purposes.

UNNECESSARY BOARDS

Administrative discretion is the title of a chapter in a recent publication dealing with the work of administrative boards in Canada. It gives an account of how one of these boards administers certain Acts in the Province of Nova Scotia. These are the Public Utility Act, the Motor Carrier Act, and the Gasoline Licensing Act. The writer begins with a disquisition upon "Public Convenience," and states that the convenience to be considered is not that of a particular person or interest, nor indeed is it that of the general public, but merely the public that is directly interested in the utility in question, gas, electric light, transportation, gasoline, etc.

It appears that no difficulty whatsoever was experienced in administering the section of the Act which relates to cases of more than one public utility of like character operating in competition in the same territory. In one case one of the corporations bought out the other. In another the board placed no difficulty in the way of an enterprising company desiring to extend its territory. Under the Motor Carrier Act the board had but little to do. Two carriers, whose equipment put together was not more than sufficient to meet the demands of traffic, applied for licences. Both licences were granted on the recommendation that the carriers should combine their undertakings, and this was done. In two other cases a contest arose between a weak bus company and a strong tram corporation, in which public convenience obviously required that the strong corporation should hold the territory. If the board had not been in existence the tram people would, in all human probability, have held their position in any case. In administering the Gasoline Licensing Act the board, according to the record, had little or nothing to do, and did little or nothing. When the Gasoline Licensing Act was passed, many anomalies existed in the gasoline situation, and still exist. Practically no changes were made by the board. The only [illegible] dealers whose business was already badly on the decline.

Looking over the record as a whole, one can find no sound reason for the existence of this board. Created on a plea of public convenience and necessity, here is a board whose official spokesman has had an opportunity to justify its existence in an expository article of twenty pages. Of the list of cases mentioned as having been considered by the board, there is none that would not have been effectively disposed of in the ordinary course of events without the intervention of any administrative board. The self-interest of the competing corporations and persons would naturally have led them to adjust their differences in any case and their unassisted action would have just as effectively served the demands of public convenience.

The board in question was no doubt called into being to satisfy the demands of people who love the idea of a "planned economy," people who think themselves especially qualified to lay down rules and regulations for the management of the lives of other people. In this case it seems that when the members of the board came to grips with the problem, they discovered that their true policy should be one of masterly inactivity and watchful waiting. The record shows clearly enough that this policy was the right one. It is to be hoped that our legislators will take the lesson to heart and refuse to add to the number of these unnecessary boards.

PITIFUL SQUAWKS

It is almost unthinkable that young, strong, husky men should have appealed to the Ottawa-Kingston War Services Board for release from their liability to be called up as draftees so that they may play hockey in the United States during the Winter months. The request has been refused and the three youths concerned have received their call-up notices. The Montreal Star believes that such a request is the inevitable sequel to the "pitiful squawk" that went up from professional sporting interests "when they discovered that they would be expected to pay the same amusement tax that all other forms of public amusement paid in aid of Canada's war effort."

It is unnecessary to pillory these young men by giving their names. It is enough to say, as The Star does, that "they tried to evade military service in their own country during wartime through the miserable subterfuge of playing hockey for cash in a neighboring country, where, it should be remembered, conscription is in force and neither hockey players nor any other sort of players are exempted . . . It is this sort of thing that makes youths who have voluntarily joined one or other of the Services for the duration of the War, and have pledged themselves to defend their country, with their lives if need be, disgusted. Fortunately such examples are few and far between."

MORALE OF MAN POWER

What is it that wins a victory on land or at sea? However large a part machinery may play in war, it is the ultimate courage and the ultimate endurance that win victory. This ultimate courage and ultimate endurance are products of character and belong only to races that have character. And races that have character are made up of men and women who have stout hearts.—Walter Hines Page (April 6, 1918).

FOR ALL MANKIND

But we of England have refused to be stripped of all that we hold dear, at the will of a foreign upstart. We have fought for years, and we still are fighting, without any brag or dream of glory, for the rights of ourselves and of all mankind.—R. D. Blackmore: "Springhaven."

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Newspaperdom in Canada has lost a bright light, and this column a friend, with the passing on Tuesday at Penticton of Mr. James Butterfield, the dean of British Columbia columnists. For eighteen years, since 1923, James Butterfield had made "The Common Round," his whimsical column in The Vancouver Daily Province, a most uncommon round indeed. It was there that one [illegible] balancing gracefully on their heads. It was there that the more fractious of public men, going north, would be introduced gaily to themselves at the time they inadvertently were headed south. It was in that column that the missing point in private or public debate would so often be rediscovered, and touched with puckish brilliancy. It was a gay spirit that conducted "The Common Round"; one that will be sorely missed. Among newspapermen, "Jim" Butterfield will be remembered for a different, but quite as important reason. He was that rare soul, a human human being. To all who were identified with the profession, whether at the beginning of their days or near the end of them, "Jim" was a friend. A frequent visitor to Victoria, Mr. Butterfield seldom neglected a call at the Legislative Press Gallery, where he was universally liked and welcomed. His interests were so wide that there was no circumstance that did not interest him; and, I believe, in his own way, no human being for whom he did not hold some elusive and intangible charm. As an ex-serviceman he had seen humanity under stress, and the experience had softened and refined all his criticisms of human endeavor. It will be as a friend that his loss will be mostly keenly felt, especially by those who used to look forward to the return of a gay and undaunted spirit. The world seems a little greyer this morning, with the close of "The Common Round."

PRICE OF GASOLINE MATTER FOR BOARD

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP).—Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the Public Utilities Commission, said here today in commenting on a request of Victoria gasoline dealers for an increase of two cents a gallon in the price of gasoline, that any price boost was entirely up to the Federal Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The Victoria dealers will make their request to Oil Controller G. R. Cottrelle.

And then drive normal people wild

Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Glancing Over Sport

Do you know that Cooney Weiland, former star forward and later coach of the Boston Bruins hockey team, holds one of the fastest scoring records in the big time circuit? In 1937 on December 14, Cooney rapped home two goals against the Toronto Maple Leafs in seven seconds. Weiland was a member of one of the greatest scoring front lines the Bruins ever had. Along with Dit Clapper and Dutch Gainor they scored 102 goals and added eighty-one assists during the 1929-30 campaign, and the previous season Cooney set an all-time league scoring mark by bagging forty-three tallies and getting thirty assists for seventy-three points. . . . Remember when the late Billy Muir and Buck Calder were known throughout the northwest as the two best divers? Muir broke his back diving from the 100-foot tower at the Gorge one May 24 as the pair were giving a special exhibition for the benefit of hundreds of Victorians. He never recovered from the accident and died several years later. . . . Now that the local soccer season is just about to get under way, it would be a good gesture on part of the City Parks Board to take a trip to the various playing fields and then have them "dressed up" for the openers. Most of them need it. . . . Manhattan will certainly be sport conscious next week. On Monday night in the Polo Grounds Joe Louis has a date with Lou Nova to decide who really belongs to that boxing title, and on Wednesday afternoon the Yankees open against the National League winners in the first of the world series.—J.D.

Did Not Hurt Dog

One of our neighbors took her wire-haired terrier along when invited out to tea. It disappeared about the time its owner was downing a second cup of oolong and beginning the third chapter of gossip. "Wonder where the little rascal is? He seems very quiet," she remarked to the hostess. "I shall go and look," she replied. A few seconds later an agonizing cry echoed through the house. "What on earth is the matter?" the guest exclaimed. "Look. Your dog. He has chewed holes in my new Oriental rug," the hostess moaned. "Don't worry. It will not hurt the dog if the dye is fast," the guest grinned. . . . "So-Ed" at the Y.M.C.A. is producing good results in co-educational work. Courses are now offered in "Making the Most of Marriages," "Understanding Yourself and Others," Understanding This World of Ours," and "Making Your Hands Useful." In order to publicize the social and educational movement a "So-Ed" sundae has been placed on the menu in a large drug store. With every dish of the confection waitresses hand out a little folder describing the movement and its activities. . . . One of the numerous bluecoats known as John became so war-minded that he conducted experiments in camouflage. While substituting theory for practice he disguised his automobile as a milk truck. It receives many curious glances while parked on Fisgard Street in daytime. . . . An army sergeant bored a girl friend to tears at the Crystal Garden describing how he received his three stripes. "You don't get these hanging around beer parlors and getting out of work," he proudly maintained. "If you did you would probably look like a zebra by now," the girl laughed.—G.B.

NOMINATED IN COLUMBIA

GOLDEN, B.C., Sept. 24 (CP).—Rev. J. H. Matthews, Fernie, was chosen unanimously at a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation nominating convention Monday to represent the party in Columbia riding in the October 21 Provincial election. Mr. Matthews was an unsuccessful candidate in East Kootenay in the last Federal general election.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

More Wharfage—Another new wharf is being built on the Belleville Street waterfront for Mr. John W. Fleming, stone cutter. The wharf is to be 150 feet long, and will be built of the strongest material. It is the intention of Mr. Fleming to use it almost entirely for the handling of stone.

The Hive and Honey—Early yesterday morning some party or parties unknown broke into the Bee Hive Saloon, on Fort Street, and removed what cash was in the till, amounting to some $18. There is no clue as to the intruders, but whoever they were they appear to have known the ways of the house and the whereabouts of the coffers.

Naval Notes—H.M.S. Pheasant will pay off her old crew shortly, sending the men home by the C.P.R. H.M.S. Champion will do the same, and both ships will sign on fresh crews at Esquimalt. A grand tournament of athletic sports is being arranged for October 6.

WARTIME HOUSING IN ESQUIMALT

Sir,—There is apparently more than a rumor that an attempt is being made to sell property owners of Esquimalt down the river. This report must be brought to the attention of the public with as little delay and as much publicity as possible. I am a property owner in Esquimalt and am, therefore, interested.

The report is that for the purpose of erecting certain temporary dwellings for the shipyard workers of Esquimalt, Wartime Housing Ltd., is considering buying private property instead of acquiring suitable land held by the municipality as laid down by the Wartime Housing Act.

In Esquimalt, to buy any private property for the purpose specified, means that still more tax free land would be added to the already heavy acreage untaxed in that district and the taxes of residents will necessarily rise.

To buy the land which has been suggested (Lot 1, Map 4333) would be an unwarranted and culpable extravagance. It has no road on it; no sewer, water or power. It is uncleared, rocky, forested, practically primeval.

Esquimalt Municipality has property, cleared, with water services laid on, at present not paying taxes, available for wartime housing.

From all reports, some of which come from shipyard officials themselves, it sounds as if someone thought he was in the happy position of building a model village with Government money and paying nothing for his fad, while leaving the unfortunate taxpayer, especially those who have cleared and improved land in the district affected, to hold the bag.

If no suitable land were available for the shipyard workers, the property would, of course, have to be considered; though this would mean a necessary revision of taxes in that vicinity as land values would be entirely depreciated. There are, however, very fortunately three parcels of land in Esquimalt owned by the municipality which would be suitable and there is no need to work further hardship on the taxpayers.

Only a few days before Wartime Housing Ltd., considered the property four acres of land next Lot 1, Map 4338, were sold for $1,100. It would be interesting to know how much the Government would consider paying for similar property.

It would be also interesting to know how Wartime Housing has been handled in other parts of Canada. MURIEL O. SMITH.

FOR A SANER WORLD

Sir,—It is becoming increasingly apparent to Western civilization that the only path to a saner and better world lies in the teaching of our Christian faith and that the strenuous fight which we are now engaged in to destroy evil has caused us to look critically at the condition of our own society.

It is apparent that we have allowed ourselves to drift away from those moral and spiritual obligations which are essential, if the freedom which we claim as our inheritance and right is to be maintained and not degenerate into licence.

The solution must lie in the teachings of the basic principles of Christianity in a form which can be readily accepted by all denominations and can be easily proved as a powerful influence into our lives. At the same time we must not fail to realize that the example set by the older generation reacts directly upon the character of the young; this is a responsibility we must face squarely.

The following is an extract from a letter appearing in The London Times of August 26, which appears to me to suggest a very admirable form of religious instruction, of great simplicity and avoids denominational bias.

"Today the challenge, both from our national enemies and from our own youth is not to the dogmas of theology, but to the ethical standards emphasized in the teachings of Jesus. Only if religious education places foremost the standards of conduct set up by Jesus is youth likely to be changed. Sir Francis Fremantle is surely right in pleading for the teaching of religion 'as our Lord taught it.' Few of the statements in the creeds were taught by Jesus. To plead for this is not to urge what Miss Dorothy Sayers calls 'a religion without theology'; but must theology always come first? We are, in her words, 'bombinating in a mental vacuum' just because theology has been emphasized to the detriment of teaching about the Christian life. The youth of today could be captured by teaching the ethics and life of Jesus, but theology and dogmas that Jesus never knew will help youth very little. They could come later, if necessary." R. S. JOHNSON.

CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

Sir,—Our spineless Government appears to be unable to do anything about strikes, but has now brought forward a suggestion that it supervise a ballot amongst the strikers. "Supervise" is an ominous word, and we hope if a vote is taken it will be by secret ballot.

It is the Government's fault that strikes take place, and it is that authority which is promoting the vicious circle of inflation in motion. The Government has proved itself more than efficient in pegging the prices of the "small" farmers' product, therefore "reducing" their purchasing power. So why does the Government not peg the prices of all other commodities likewise? Then the percentage of people benefiting financially from a "state of war" can invest their superfluous money in Government bonds and thus further the war effort, and in time the latter would win a "true" title instead of the now fictitious one that Mr. King lays claim to—that of an "all out" effort.

News comes from Britain that the Canadian Army over there is not up to strength owing to depletion by sickness and death, yet here every time one picks up a paper one finds the recruiting officers are "pleading" with men to join the forces.

The man who is at the head of the country, and is in power because of his "no conscription" platform, can stand up at a gathering and quote the following:

"Rise, for the day is passing,
And you lie dreaming on.
The others have buckled the armor,
And forth to the fight have gone."

Mr. King has said "we cannot expect the Britain to fight our battles for us"—(in spite of the fact that they are doing so)—and before time can dim that one he now says the same of Russia. Has he the right to say the United States should come into the war, while he, the man who pledged Canada's honor, "still lies dreaming on"? That pledge has got to be redeemed if Canada is not to have the brand of Cain marked on her, for all the various delays are just causing more murder.

Somehow, one cannot believe the people are going to wait until they "hear" the crash of tumbling buildings and the screams from mangled bodies before they wake up to the fact that all is not well. Canada is losing her identity as a democracy while she is being ruled and overridden by yet another fatal "ism" that is using the seed of patronage to purchase the minds of men and women.

We salute our men of the forces who are struggling to keep the banner of honor flying. We have heard their cry for help (and so has Mr. King) and unless and until all the people of Canada demand total conscription under the type of government now ruling in Britain, they will find they are letting their men folk down. ELLEN HART.

NOVA SCOTIA AIRMAN IS PRISONER OF WAR

YARMOUTH, N.S., Sept. 24 (CP).—Shot down on his twenty-second anniversary when a German fighter plane handed him a batch of bullets as a birthday present, Sergeant Jack Nickerson, of the Royal Canadian Air Force, now is a prisoner of war, his parents here learned yesterday. The airman wrote and told them he was injured in the aerial fight and his body was encased in a plaster cast.

THREE MEN DROWNED

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., Sept. 24 (CP).—Word has been received at this Northwestern Ontario town, 200 miles east of Winnipeg, of the drowning September 10, of three men in Dog Lake Rapids, about sixty miles north of Sioux Lookout.

FOG AT VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP).—Heavy fog which hung over Vancouver this morning kept the Trans-Canada Air Lines plane, scheduled to leave here for the East at 7 a.m., grounded until 10 a.m. The mist lifted before other plane movements started.

RESTRICTED TO SPECIAL PERMIT

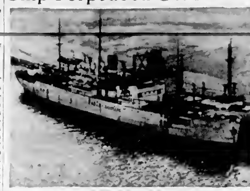

Seaplane Landing Area on Fraser River Now Under Control of R.C.A.F. Western Command

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP). — Vancouver's seaplane landing area on the middle arm of the Fraser River, which flows past the south shore of Sea Island, has been designated a controlled area, according to word received here from Defence Minister Ralston through the Western Air Command. Entry to the landing will be restricted to special permit and use of the area is restricted to persons "manufacturing, repairing or air testing seaplanes on behalf of His Majesty."

The regulations governing the landing area are listed in an order in council incorporated as a general order of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Complaints have been made before the city council recently that Japanese fishermen disregarding warning signals have endangered seaplanes landing and taking off from the river.

CREW ABANDONS BURNING CRAFT

Youngest Passenger From Arawak Finishes Lifeboat Cruise Reading Book

NEW SMYRNA BEACH, Fla., Sept. 24 (AP).—Fourteen survivors of the burned British freighter Arawak, including a plucky eleven-year-old girl, who finished reading a book in the lifeboat, were brought safely ashore here by coastguardsmen early today.

The Arawak, a 118-foot, 201-ton wooden vessel built in 1938, was destroyed by flames that started in the galley only a few hours after it left Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday morning for its home port of Nassau, Bahamas. The Arawak was about fifteen miles off the Florida coast.

Captain Roland Roberts of Nassau said the flames, fanned by a high wind, spread with almost incredible swiftness. The captain, his crew of eight and the five passengers aboard abandoned ship about fifteen miles offshore about 2:30 p.m., a little more than an hour after the fire started.

"We had two boats, but the flames were so high we couldn't launch one of them," Roberts said, "so all of us piled into a lifeboat built to accommodate twelve. We hoisted sail, started using our oars and sent up flares to show where we were."

A light motor-driven coast guard surfboat met the Arawak's lifeboat about four miles offshore and towed it to safety.

Troops Stationed In Newfoundland Send Mails Free

Members of the Canadian forces stationed in Newfoundland are now enjoying the privilege of mailing their letters postage free to Canada, as result of the arrangements placed in effect by Hon. William P. Mulock, K.C., Postmaster-General.

Early in the Summer it was announced that plans were being made for the establishment of regular field postoffices in Newfoundland by the Canadian Postal Corps, through which soldiers' letters to Canada would have to pass to be accepted free of postage, the regular Newfoundland postage being required on all other items.

This scheme which is now in effect is a further arrangement made by the postoffice to facilitate an exchange of correspondence between the troops and their homes in Canada.

It will be recalled that a special postage rate on parcels was authorized by the Postoffice Department, 10 cents a pound (limit twenty pounds) for the benefit of those mailing to the Canadian forces in Newfoundland.

New Comforts for Traveling Public On National Road

An important improvement in service has been announced by the Canadian National Railways in respect to their Okanagan passenger service, through C. F. Earle, district passenger agent here.

The through standard sleeping car service from Vancouver to Armstrong, Vernon and Kelowna which has operated successfully for several years will now be served by air-conditioned cars and the sleepers will contain one compartment in addition to the drawing-room and sections heretofore offered the traveling public.

These improvements will make the fast overnight service to the Okanagan of the National road even more popular. Leaving Vancouver on the "Continental Limited" at 7:15 p.m., the car reaches Vernon at 8:50 and Kelowna at 10:40 the following morning, eliminating the necessity of any change of equipment en route. Direct connection with the afternoon boats from Victoria and Nanaimo is arranged for passengers from the Island.

Canadian Fishing Company Appeals Against Judgment

VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP). — Hearing opened here today in Exchequer Court before Mr. Justice A. K. MacLean, of an appeal by Canadian Fishing Company Limited, Vancouver, from an award by the late Chief Justice Archer Martin, of $4,800 to Irwin N. Cholberg, Cascade Bay, B.C., against the fish packer Silver Horde for wages.

The fishing company, as holder of a mortgage on the Silver Horde, disputes Cholberg's claim for wages on the ground he was actual owner of the vessel, though it was registered in the name of his father.

NANAIMO, Sept. 24 (CP). — P.O. Henry Law, reported missing in the Royal Air Force's eighty-first casualty list issued last night at London, is a native of Gabriola Island in the Strait of Georgia.

Law joined the Royal Air Force after the close of the 1939 fishing season, T. P. Taylor, Gabriola Island resident, said today. He had owned his own boat and spent the Summers fishing between Gabriola Island and Vancouver Island and his Winters attending the University of British Columbia.

His mother, Mrs. R. Law, moved on September 15 to Vancouver, where she now lives at 3974 West Eighteenth Avenue. A sister, Mrs. Andrew Reid, lives at 458 East Seventh Avenue, North Vancouver.

Patrol Overhauls Vessel Trying to Enter Manila Bay

MANILA, Sept. 24 (AP).—A reliable source disclosed tonight that a United States warship on neutrality patrol recently fired several shots across the bow of an unidentified fishing vessel attempting to enter Manila Bay without an escort through the mine fields.

The vessel disregarded the shots, this source asserted, and finally was overhauled by the warship near Cavite, where the United States navy yard is located. The nationality of the craft and disposition of the case remained undisclosed. The United States neutrality patrol office declined to comment.

Another fishing vessel, owned by a Filipino, was apprehended last Sunday while attempting to negotiate the mine fields unescorted. The owner was fined $12.50.

TO BE RECEIVED AT WHITE HOUSE

Duke and Duchess of Windsor on Way to Washington—Luncheon Postponed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 (AP).—Only twelve hours before the Duke and Duchess of Windsor were due in Washington on a flying visit, the State Department suddenly announced tonight that a White House luncheon planned for them tomorrow had been postponed.

But a few hours after giving out this information, the department issued a second announcement saying that President Roosevelt would receive the couple at noon. The department spokesman was unable to say whether Mrs. Roosevelt also would be on hand to greet them.

The announcement that the White House luncheon was off explained the postponement was necessitated by the serious illness of G. Hall Roosevelt, brother of Mrs. Roosevelt. He has been a patient in hospital here for some time.

For the Duke and Duchess, the visit is a stop-off between The Bahamas, where he is governor-general, and his Alberta ranch.

TO ATTEND DUKE

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP).—Col. C. H. King, of Victoria, B.C., has been assigned by the Government to be in attendance upon the Duke of Windsor during his forthcoming visit to the E.P. Ranch in Alberta, it was announced today in a formal press statement from the office of Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

Because of the private nature of the visit there will be "no ceremonies of a public nature," the announcement stated.

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will enter Canada at North Portal, near Moose Jaw, and travel by train to Calgary, thence by motor to the ranch at High River, established there by the Duke when he was Prince of Wales.

They are expected to arrive in Calgary next Monday morning and proceed to the ranch for ten days.

J. H. Smith, director of public relations for the Canadian Pacific Railways, will join the Duke's party at St. Paul, Minn., and act as representative of the director of public information, G. H. Lash, for the Canadian section of the tour.

Rev. Dr. A. R. Aldridge, Calgary, great-uncle of the bride, came to Victoria to perform the ceremony, on September 18 at 812 Esquimalt Road. The bride was given in marriage by her cousin, Mr. James Cunningham, and wore an air force blue suit of fine wool with appliqued scrolls of the same shade trimming the jacket. Her corsage bouquet was of Sweetheart rosebuds and white feathered heather. Mrs. James Cunningham was matron of honor wearing a black and white ensemble trimmed with Venetian lace. She wore a corsage bouquet of red rosebuds set in the petals of a white gladiolus. The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Elmer Watson. A small reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, where Autumn flowers were arranged throughout the rooms. The supper table was covered with a lace cloth centred with a three-tier wedding cake, made by the bride's mother, and which was set in folds of tulle and surrounded by little pink rosebuds. Mr. and Mrs. Watson left later for a motor trip on the Island and on their return they will make their home at 824 Wollaston Avenue.

ABOUT YOUR BABY

First Month for Mother and Baby

By LETTICE LEE STREETT

So you are just home from the hospital—and with you you have proudly brought a fine new baby! Ah! but he will add fullness and joy to your life; you are the lucky girl. He is a lucky baby, too, if you consciously resolve to give him the best chance in life that you are capable of providing.

But you can not do this if you are equipped with a mother's famous over-rated intuition and loving promises alone. The proper care that will allow him to grow into a strong child means work and practical knowledge on your part. So take your problems to your doctor, read books and articles and listen to instructive radio programmes while you turn a deaf but polite ear toward the advice of friends.

The first month of a baby's life is a period of recuperation for both infant and mother, and for their and the rest of the family's adjustment to the happy shock of his birth.

Now is the time for the mother to lavishly indulge herself in serene cheerfulness and laziness. The lazier she is the better! No anxiety, household or business problems should be allowed to touch her, the father should assume all details until his wife is strong enough again to shoulder her share of their responsibilities.

GUARD HEALTH

The mother should be fully conscious of the importance of preserving her strength and guarding her health during this critical period. Each day she should rest, pay attention to regular elimination, eat wholesome, well-balanced meals, sleep long and peacefully at night and relax out-of-doors as much as possible. A taboo should be placed on too many callers and phone conversations, rich foods, stimulants and too much smoking. The mother should not take charge of her baby until she is feeling fit and strong and certainly not before the baby is four weeks old.

CARE OF BABY

Care of the infant, such as feeding, bathing, airing and weighing should go by clock-work. It is particularly important that the infant be fed regularly and most doctors prefer the four-hour feeding schedule. No changes in routine or formula, or milk to supplement breast milk, should be given without the doctor's permission.

And last—but far, far from least now is the time for the mother to establish this necessary habit: her baby should be examined by a pediatrician on his one-month birthday and from then on every month until he is a year old.

PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Major Simon Gives Address

Major J P Simon was the speaker on "International Relations and the Kingdom of Heaven" at a meeting at the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Guild of Friendship The speaker was introduced by Rev. George Biddle the chairman, who spoke of the need for concerted action on the part of Christian people and emphasised that the lectures being held under the auspices of the Guild of Friendship are intended to lead to a practical result. Christian principles must be carried out in every department of government if the world is to survive in peace and security, he said

Major Simon pointed out that democracy, or "government by the people required education and preparation Individuals should look upon the selection of suitable candidates for government office as a sacred duty. Setting down the rules of democratic government, the speaker made special mention of the right of an individual to express his own potentialities, the right to economic freedom and the guarantee that he shall not be exploited Freedom of expression and the right to criticism and control were other advantages.

One of the advantages of party government was that it provided a basis for debate, he continued He warned against bigotry and emphasized the need for "long-range planning" The world today was suffering from too short a view, he went on

The problems of the world could not be solved until all nations had equal access to raw materials, which meant the breaking down of the tariff system. Major Simon pointed out that a better world could not be brought about unless the command "Thou shall love thy neighbor as thyself" was carried out.

The next lecture will take place on Tuesday, October 14 when Very Rev S H Elliott will be the speaker and Mr. Albert Sullivan the chairman

HAIRPINS AT STAKE

BBC London Letter

—Hairpins! Who'd ever have dreamt that there'd come a day when they were at a premium? But they are in Britain today There are plenty of the thick old-fashioned ones But the invisible ones are really invisible

Barbara Back, the fashion and beauty expert went into an air-raid shelter and was followed by two women with a backgammon board They played all through the night with gambler's fever And the stakes weren't money but hairpins When the "all clear" went one of them had lost six packets She was much more upset than if she'd overplunged her bank balance

ITINERANT PREACHERS STILL

Not at all exceptional, but fairly suggestive of what home mission workers in Canada are called upon to do is the report of a missionary pastor in Northern Ontario, who says that every Sunday he and his wife travel fifty-eight miles and conduct or take part in at least six services including teaching in Sunday school as well as preaching Many workers on mission fields in Alberta can match the record What such work means to the building of the nation is beyond telling

At the Theatres

SERIAL BEGINS AT RIO THEATRE

Carole Landis Stars in "Daredevils Of the Red Circle," Which Starts Today

A heroine in a serial calls for something more than mere prettiness and dramatic ability. Real courage is a prerequisite for acting in the chapter thrillers.

Carole Landis, who is cast in the latest Republic serial, "Daredevils of the Red Circle" which starts today at the Rio Theatre, had to develop a sort of emotional imperviousness to fire, water, battle, murder and sudden death. With the thrills coming at the rate of one a minute, there was no time to wonder "Will I ever live through this?"

Contrary to many serial leading ladies who merely ornament the story, Carole plays an active part in all the episodes, being right there when the dynamite blasts, the dam breaks or the gas tank explodes.

CAPITOL THEATRE One of Hollywood's most sought after leading men, Walter Pidgeon follows his hit in "Flight Command" with the stellar role opposite Greer Garson in M-G-M's Technicolor production of "Blossoms in the Dust," which is current at the Capitol Theatre. As Sam Gladney, he joins the Irish star in one of the screen's most poignant romances.

DOMINION THEATRE A "haunted house" is the setting for much of the ghostly goings-on in "The Devil Commands," Boris Karloff's latest Columbia thriller now at the Dominion Theatre. When the studio started to film the scenes recently, it decided to make them as authentic as possible. Director Edward Dmytryk finally found just the house he wanted. He immediately took Karloff and the entire "The Devil Commands" company to the old Clarks home in San Fernando Valley, long celebrated in "haunted house" legends.

ATLAS THEATRE The kiss between Eddie Bracken, Bob Hope's new stooge, and Phyllis Ruth has been hailed as "Hollywood's most terrific kiss," and "The kiss that launched a ten-ton tank." The sequence of the kiss runs some 500 feet in "Caught in the Draft," Paramount's screenful of army laughs, which is now showing at the Atlas Theatre.

PLAZA THEATRE When Dorothy Lewis made ice skating history through her sensational "dancing on skates" act in New York, it was said that her tiny portable rink held no more ice than the champagne buckets at the tables of smart New Yorkers who viewed her performance. By contrast, little Miss Lewis has one of the largest rinks ever constructed to skate upon in "Ice-Capades," her debut motion picture for Republic, now at the Plaza Theatre.

AMUSEMENTS

Atlas Theatre—Bob Hope in "Caught in the Draft."

Cadet Theatre — "The Lady Eve," starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda.

Capitol Theatre—Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon in "Blossoms in the Dust."

Dominion Theatre—"The Devil Commands," featuring Boris Karloff.

Oak Bay Theatre — "Torpedo Raider."

Plaza Theatre—"Ice-Capades," with an all-star cast.

Rio Theatre — "Daredevils of the Red Circle."

York Theatre—Bette Davis in "The Great Lie."

OAK BAY OFFERS DRAMA OF NAVY

"Torpedo Raider" Made With Help Of Admiralty—Walter Forde Directed Picture

The roar of the sea and the boom of cannon is the background for the thrilling, spectacular and heart-twisting climax of Monogram's "Torpedo Raider," opening today at the Oak Bay Theatre.

Full co-operation of the British Admiralty, extended for the first time to a producer for a purely fictional naval drama, has provided "Torpedo Raider" with a sequence of scenes of sea battle which tops anything of the kind. Lending several ships, the navy chiefs guaranteed the authenticity of Walter Forde's direction in matters of manoeuvre and discipline, and Forde himself has looked after the drama.

BETTE DAVIS STARS IN FEATURE AT YORK

For the first time in more than two years, Bette Davis looks her real age in a picture.

It's a far more youthful appearing Bette than the star of "Elizabeth and Essex," "The Old Maid," "All This and Heaven Too" and even "The Letter" who will be starred in her new picture, "The Great Lie" starting today. In returning to the role of a young American girl for the first time since "Dark Victory," Miss Davis has shed years along with her period gowns and character makeups.

HENRY FONDA TAKES SNAKE EXPERT'S ROLE

If ever a picture showed promise of being the comedy hit of the year it is Paramount's new excursion into the laugh field, "The Lady Eve," written and directed by Preston Sturges and starring Barbara Stanwyck and Henry Fonda in the chief comedy roles, which starts today at the Cadet Theatre.

"The Lady Eve" is about a rich young man, an expert on snakes, a naive fellow, not very worldly, who becomes the target for a gang of slick international cardsharps as he is returning aboard ship from an Amazonian expedition. The beautiful leader of the sharpsters is Barbara Stanwyck, who didn't plan to let love take a hand when she marked the rich young man, Henry Fonda, as a card victim. When Fonda learns she's a double-dealer at cards he's sure she's a double-crosser about being in love with him, and he quits her.

PLAN FOOD RESERVOIR

the Churchill-Roosevelt Atlantic Charter.

The resolution adopted today calls upon each of the Allied Governments to estimate the kinds and amounts of foodstuffs, raw materials and other articles which they will need in the first few weeks after the war and to indicate the priority in which they want them supplied. Britain will create a bureau to coordinate these estimates and present them to an Allied committee under Sir Frederick Leith-Ross of Britain. Plans for postwar employment of shipping resources will be worked out shortly.

The Russians, while agreeing in principle to the food resolution, objected to the all-British character of the proposed central co-ordinating bureau and reserved the right to make proposals looking toward giving it an inter-Allied character.

which they described as "tragic," "terrible," "desperate vandalism and savagery."

They left Coventry before lunch for a Midlands aircraft factory, where 200 workers had just sat down for their midday meal. They inspected the factory from end to end, lunched with the workers and heard the factory orchestra.

Grattan O'Leary, of Ottawa, spoke to the workers of the millions of Canadians who have blood ties with Britain, and of those others who though they have no blood ties are represented in the Canadian army overseas.

TRIBUTE TO WORKERS

"We are more than proud of the [illegible] stand in unison with us to overthrow Hitler," he said. He praised the workers for the jobs they are doing and told them "we salute you for the spirit which you have shown here."

From the factory the editors went to a Midlands air field where they met a few Canadian officers and remained for supper.

Fraser M. Gerrie, of Edmonton, who had pre-arranged a reunion at Coventry with his brother, Major John W. Gerrie, who is serving at a Canadian military hospital, had a long chat at the R.A.F. station with P.O. G. S. MacDonald, who also comes from Edmonton.

Wilfred MacTavish of Vancouver, found a former carrier boy from The Vancouver Province, P.O. Jack Waterman, to talk to.

The newsmen drove to Grantham, Lincolnshire, after supper, where they will spend the night. Tomorrow they will visit Cambridge before returning to London.

RUSSIANS CRACK NEW NAZI DRIVE

Allied supply route through Iran (Persia).

Russian accounts stressed that the Soviet Baltic and Black Sea fleets—particularly the former—were still in heavy offensive action. Naval aircraft, supporting the Leningrad ground defenders reported the destruction of two German anti-aircraft batteries, eleven anti-aircraft machine guns and fourteen armored cars.

GERMAN REPORT

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (AP)—Nazis claimed tonight German siege troops have fought their way to within sight of the docks of Leningrad, and driven Russian defenders out of two more villages at the outskirts of the big city.

One German infantry unit was said to have advanced until activity in part of the dock region was visible through binoculars.

The dispatches said Leningrad's defenders still were throwing themselves upon the Germans in counter-attack after counter-attack but these were alleged to be decreasing steadily in intensity.

A NAZI THREAT

DNB threatened "It is to be expected Leningrad and its population will suffer the fate of Warsaw."

The news and propaganda service expressed the opinion bombardment of the city and bitter street-to-street fighting would be necessary because of Russian determination to defend it.

Germans were told the mopping up of Soviet forces trapped east of Kiev was proceeding methodically, with the encircled Russians split into two tightly-held rings.

The High Command asserted that the trapped troops would be destroyed within a few days.

Dispatches claimed the German air force had bombed the Red Army's defence ring around Leningrad and had renewed its bombing of industries at Moscow and Kharkov in the Donets basin.

The psychologist explained how easy it was to judge a man's character from his clothes.

"Socks show a man's temperament very clearly, they tell whether he is generous or avaricious, nervous or phlegmatic," he announced.

"They also keep his feet warm," muttered an unbeliever.

According to Culbertson

In almost every deal played at a suit contract, the ruff of worthless cards either in declarer's hand or in dummy accounts for the winning of one or more tricks. It goes without saying therefore, that the defenders' ceaseless task should be to destroy this ruffing power whenever possible. When a singleton in a side suit shows up in dummy it is, of course, a simple matter to lead trumps, thus attacking dummy's ruffing strength. Sometimes, however, this line of defence is not so well marked and requires imagination. Consider today's hand.

The bidding

I am merely reporting the bidding, not recommending it. Apparently South was a player who uses an artificial opening club bid. This is the only explanation that can account for his choice of the three card club suit instead of his four card diamond suit.

West opened the spade king and, when he saw the dummy, promptly hit upon the only defence that could defeat the contract. He shifted to the singleton club. The declarer's partner laughed somewhat derisively and asked "What are you trying to do, knock out my trumps?" Obviously it looked easy to [illegible] attack on the six card club suit in the dummy, but that was not West's object. What he actually was doing was attacking declarer's trump strength in an effort to prevent declarer from ruffing any of dummy's worthless cards.

The club queen won the second trick, and declarer properly took the heart finesse up to his king. East went right up with the ace and followed his partner's direction by leading a second trump. Declarer now cross-ruffed the hand as far as possible but, with only one trump left in his own hand, could not reach his ten trick goal. He rid his own hand of the spade queen and was able to ruff a spade with the club ace, but this still left dummy's fourth spade as a loser and, in all, declarer lost three spade tricks and one heart.

Now let us follow the play if West had not been so shrewd as to shift to a club at the second trick. Let us suppose he had made the "normal" continuation of the spade ace and nine spot. Declarer would ruff, cash the ace of diamonds and ruff a diamond, then lead a heart. East would take the ace, but no return would embarrass declarer. A club return would be won with the king. The heart king would be cashed and a heart ruffed. Declarer then would ruff dummy's last spade with his club ace, and dummy would be left with nothing but trumps.

D. B. Brankin, Surrey, Elected President of B. C. School Trustees

Important Resolutions Passed at Closing Session Of Convention at Nanaimo—To Be Sent To Department of Education

NANAIMO, Sept. 24.—David B. Brankin, of Surrey, was unanimously elected president for 1941-42 of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association at the conclusion of their three-day annual convention here today. John Barsby, chairman of Nanaimo School Board, was elected first vice-president, and Leslie Craufurd, of Nelson, was elected second vice-president.

The session lasted until 2 p.m. and was taken up largely with consideration of resolutions, thirty-two of which had been received from the various branches, those endorsed to be submitted to the Department of Education.

The meeting turned down a resolution from Cobble Hill proposing that teachers be barred from taking part in any political campaign, rejection being on the ground that the policy of the association was to stay clear of politics.

Coquitlam's request that the Department of Education be asked to make a grant to the boards of an equal amount to that voted by the ratepayers for the purpose of remedying ear, nose and throat defects suffered by school children whose parents are unable to provide the necessary medical treatment was endorsed.

POWER OF SUPERVISION

Surrey School Board asked that trustees have power of supervision over all students' council activities. Mr. Brankin explained that a play had been put on by the council of Surrey School and later a question of responsibility of payments of royalties had arisen, payment for which it was thought for a time the trustees would be responsible. The association agreed that trustees should have power to supervise council activities, and will so recommend.

Richmond Board, after a lengthy preamble, dealing with relieving land of unfair taxation for educational costs, asked the association to continue to pursue its efforts so that a satisfactory solution may be found in the matter of provincial education finance. The association endorsed their request.

A resolution of the Richmond Board brought lengthy argument, and was finally referred to the executive to confer with the Department of Education, and report back at next meeting. The resolution asked for the institution and payment by the Department of Education a province-wide scale of teachers' salaries.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ACT

The executive submitted a resolution which was endorsed, asking that when amendments to the Public Schools Act are proposed, they be submitted to the executive of the association for consideration, so that the views of the trustees may be obtained.

Hearty votes of thanks were passed by the association to the guest speakers at the banquet held Tuesday evening, Hon. G. M. Weir, Minister of Education, and Dr. G. M. Amyot, M.D., D.P.H., for their masterly and instructive addresses and also to the Nanaimo School Board for the wonderful arrangements which had been made by them for the convenience and pleasure of delegates attending the convention.

Beauty and You

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

Time to get rid of that tanned-leather look and to cultivate a rose and cream complexion. Quick service with a lanolin cream that has been homogenized.

Oil and More Oil for Fading Tans

THERE is one unfailing rule in beauty culture—use oil, and more oil, for dry or seasoned skins and scalps. And that rule holds good when you want to get rid of the last yellow of your summer's tan, for tanned skin is nothing more or less than a skin dried and discolored by the sun's rays. To bleach it to its normal shade it must be well lubricated night and day.

Of course, if you are one of the fortunates, and your skin fades gradually and prettily you need not resort to the treatment I am going to suggest. But most girls and women find that a Summer's tan fades all too gradually and in its last stages looks sallow and unlovely.

Every day for a week at least massage your skin well with your favorite lubricating cream, or plain olive oil. Then hold your face over a basin of steaming hot water and cover your head with a heavy towel so as to capture the steam. After a couple of moments, wipe your face free of cream and steam it again. (You will find if you let the hot water run constantly into a basin the steam will be of the intensity you need.)

After the second steaming rub your face vigorously with the bath towel and then rinse your face with warm water (no soap needed) and splash it generously with cold, cold water. Such a greasing and stimulating will do wonders for your complexion—not only will your fading color disappear but your skin will take on new beauty when the dead cuticle is thoroughly removed.

AT NIGHT

Before going to bed wash your face well with soap and water, rinse it and dry it. Then gently apply a thin complexion oil, being sure you put the oil on your eyelids and around your eyes. Leave this oil on during the night to soften your skin.

DURING DAY HOURS

Unless your skin is sufficiently oily, you will find that a bit of the lubricating cream, or a special foundation base, is necessary during the day hours—especially if you are a careerist and must keep your best ten hours of the day. This under-make-up cream also helps to lubricate your burned skin and to bleach it to its normal Winter shade.

Your powder, during this period of changing skins, will vary in shade from a deep suntan to a medium shade to your normal shade. You may blend it yourself by adding lighter powder to the darker shade as your face skin lightens. Experiment a bit and determine whether you need more pink or more tan or more white in your face powder, when you blend it.

CONFER ON FISCAL PLAN

Quebec Officials Discuss Federal Income Tax Proposals at Ottawa

OTTAWA, Sept. 24 (CP).—Hon. J. A. Matheson, Quebec Provincial ...tury officials conferred throughout this afternoon and evening with Finance Minister Ilsley in continuation of the series of Dominion-provincial meetings on the Federal income tax proposals.

All the provinces but Ontario and British Columbia now have met Mr. Ilsley and his advisers for discussion of Mr. Ilsley's budget proposal of last April 29, that they surrender the personal and corporation income tax field to the Federal Treasury for the duration of the war, and accept Federal compensation for their lost revenue.

B.C. TO DELAY

Ontario's delegation, headed by Premier Hepburn, is expected late this week or early next week, but British Columbia will leave the proposal in abeyance until after the provincial elections, October 31.

While Mr. Ilsley and the provincial leaders have expressed confidence that all the provinces will ultimately accept the proposal, they have said they have no hope of completing the individual agreements immediately.

The delegations are expected to take proposals back to their Governments and work out the basis of agreements which may be completed and signed at a general conference to be held later.

TWO ALTERNATIVES

Compensation is offered in two alternatives forms: either cash to an annual equivalent to the personal and corporation income tax revenues for the fiscal year ended nearest December 31, 1940, or servicing by the Federal Treasury of provincial debt for that year.

In addition, cash subsidies based upon "fiscal need" could be paid to offset inequalities that might arise.

It is reported that the majority of the provinces favor the cash grant rather than the debt-servicing proposition.

The conferences opened Monday Manitoba and Saskatchewan delegations are seeing Mr. Ilsley and his associates again tomorrow.

WANT INCREASE IN ALLOWANCES

Veterans to Convene in Toronto Within the Next Two Months

Members of Dominion and Provincial Commands of the Army and Navy Veterans of Canada, who visited Victoria yesterday on a "good will" tour following meetings in Vancouver, Monday and Tuesday, announced that the organization's Dominion convention in Toronto, scheduled to occur "within the next two months," would be held either six or seven weeks from now.

Although officials would not give a definite statement as to what would be brought up at the convention, it was understood that the Dominion Government would be petitioned to increase allowances to dependents and the lower class of pensioners to compensate for the higher cost of living. At the Vancouver meeting earlier this week resolutions dealing with the inadequacy of the allowances were passed.

BACK "NEW SOLDIERS"

Reiterating its hundred-year-old policy of caring for those who serve in the armed forces, the association has also pledged to "new soldiers" in the present war the same service given veterans of earlier wars. The association will assist in any trouble with pay, pensions, or allowances.

Following out the veterans' already-known stand favoring "all-out" conscription, the Vancouver meeting also passed resolutions endorsing the efforts of the Government to increase recruiting and pledging the best efforts of the association along that line.

In Victoria yesterday the members of the Provincial and Dominion Commands were taken on a sightseeing trip of the city, and were entertained at luncheon in Spencer's dining-room.

At the luncheon Captain Robert Wilkinson, Dominion president, presented each member with a Scotch plaid tie, while Dominion and Provincial chaplain, Rev. Clen Bievenson, was presented with a silver cuff-fee set. Speakers included representatives from every province in the Dominion.

Also present were Dr. P. B. Mellon, Dominion secretary, J. P. Niven, assistant Dominion secretary, George Tucker, provincial president; Major T. R. Wheadon, president of the Victoria association, and other members of the Dominion and Provincial Commands.

Bays Beat Flyers In Opening Match Of the Play-Offs

City and Island Boxla Champions Take Lead in Coast Series by 19-10 Victory Over Mainlanders —Visitors' Goalie Turns in Great Game— Second Battle on Tomorrow Night

Score:

James Bay 19, Vancouver Flyers 10.

Next game, tomorrow:

James Bay vs. Vancouver Flyers, second game of best-of-three series for Coast boxla championship, Sports Centre, at 8:30 o'clock.

Making their first bid for provincial honors, Manager Ted Menzies' James Bay gutted stick artists last night turned back the Vancouver Flyers Mainland champions, in the first game of the Coast finals played at the Victoria Sports Centre.

Second contest of the best-of-three series will be played tomorrow evening at the Sports Centre, and the Mainlanders must win to stay in the running for the laurels. In the event of the visitors tying up the play-offs, a third and final fixture will be played Saturday evening.

Actually the Bays had a much tougher time winning last night's battle than the score of 19-10 suggests, and in the early stages of the hectic struggle were on the short end of the score.

Play was rugged during the entire sixty minutes, with rival squads fighting every inch of the way for victory in the initial contest. In the first three sessions there was little to choose between the two contesting clubs, but the Bays did look better in the final stanza.

VANCOUVER STARS

Stars of the Vancouver Flyers were Bob Phelan, a player who has turned in many fine performances with the gutted stick in senior company on the Mainland, and Norman Delmonica, visiting goalie. The Vancouver net custodian had plenty of rubber fired at him, particularly in the second and third sessions, and his phenomenal work kept the Bays' score down and gained for him the plaudits of the 1,300 fans.

Goalie Art McKim was a little wobbly at the start and appeared to have some difficulty getting started, but finally settled down and played good lacrosse.

Play was wild in the first period with neither club capable of settling down and turning in a good exhibition. The visitors, paced by Bob Phelan, their scoring star, bagged three tallies and pulled up at the end of the session on the right end of a 3-2 count.

Three times during the second stanza the score was knotted before the Bays finally managed to move out in front, 8-6, as the session ended. In the third period the locals matched their second-period scoring, while the Vancouver Flyers were only able to come up with a pair of tallies.

But defeat actually came the way of the Mainlanders in the final period. During that session the Bays, now hitting their stride, fired home seven tallies, five more than the opposition.

BAKER TOP SCORER

Norm Baker was top sniper for the Bays, leading the local scoring brigade with four markers. Ralph Baker and Arnold Ferguson were next in line with three goals while Carl and Andy Ovcharick and Bob Wallace bagged two goals each.

Bob Phelan was the most dangerous man on the visitors' line-up, firing home six of their ten goals. Proctor registered two, and Savage and Stewart were the other scorers.

Kabatow and Kelly, Vancouver Flyers, received minor injuries and needed hospital attention, while a number of the other players received minor cuts which needed attention by the first aid men.

Twenty-five minutes in penalties were handed out by the officials, with the visitors drawing the odd-minute's rest.

YOUNG ROOKIE SHOWS CLASS

Stan Musial Is Sensation of Cardinals' Drive Towards The Flag

PITTSBURGH, Sept 24 (CP). —While his arm didn't have it, his heart did, so Stanley Musial today is a rookie sensation for St. Louis Cardinals instead of a has-been at the ripe old age of twenty.

A slim kid reared at nearby Donora, the new Cardinal one-man gang changed almost overnight from a bargain basement southpaw pitcher into a southpaw hitting and fielding outfielder with a million dollar future.

Sheer grit—the same sort of stuff which made him play outfield for Daytona Beach, Fla., last year when he wasn't pitching—made the amazing transition possible.

"I was playing outfield one day and fell trying to field a low liner," recalls Stanley. "The fall did something to my arm although I finished the season with eighteen victories and five losses."

When Stan reported to Columbus last Spring, he added, "I was still listed as pitcher but I didn't make the grade and was shipped to Springfield, Mo., for a tryout as an outfielder."

All Stanley did was burn up the Western Association. When Branch Rickey, boss of the Card chain, discovered his worn-out southpaw leading in hitting, runs batted in and sundry other items in mid-season, he sent the boy to Rochester.

In fifty-five games for Rochester, Stan whacked the pellet for an average well over .300 and was brought in by the Cards for a look-see.

Stanley has belted National League pitching for a .500 average in thirty times up, clipping a homer and two singles yesterday against Pittsburgh Pirates.

Captures $2,000 Best-Ball Match

DETROIT, Sept 24 (AP).—National Open Champion Craig Wood and Byron Nelson completed their rout today of the Texas combination of Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret by winning, 5 and 4, in their $2,000 thirty six-hole best-ball match. It was the first major defeat of the Hogan-Demaret team.

Wood and Nelson carded a best ball of 63, nine under par for the Country Club of Detroit course, to maintain a five-hole lead they gained yesterday in the first half of the match on Nelson's spectacular putting. Today Wood contributed the decisive shot with an eagle three on the twenty-seventh hole.

The winners pocketed the entire purse.

Richmond Farmers Turn Back Burrards for Third Straight Time, 8-6

VANCOUVER, Sept 24 (CP).—The Richmond Farmers all but eliminated Vancouver Burrards' chances of retaining the Inter-City Box Lacrosse League championship by defeating the Vancouver squad, 8-6, here tonight for their third straight victory in the best-of-seven final series. The Farmers won the first two games by scores of 8-6 and 15-14.

Some 5,000 people, largest crowd of the current season witnessed tonight's fast, close-checking game. Each team netted one goal in the opening quarter and Richmond stepped into the lead in the next frame with two points, while holding Burrards scoreless.

The Vancouver team came back strong in the third to tie the score at four goals each. They failed to keep up the face, however and were on the short end of a 4-3 score in the final quarter.

Doug Ross of Richmond was the high scorer with three goals. Burrards counters were divided with no player scoring more than once.

Yanks' Outfield Is Stronger Than Rival Ball Teams

Joe DiMaggio, Keller, Henrich and Selkirk Carry Plenty of Batting Power and Are Formidable on the Defence—Writer Compares Clubs—Keller Says He Will Be Playing

(This is the third in a series analysing the prospective world series rivals.)

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept 24 (AP).—Any outfield that included Joe DiMaggio would be a better-than-average combination, and an outfield that also included Charley (King Kong) Keller and Tommy Henrich should be the best in baseball.

Well, it is. And New York Yankees hope to have it in action next week in the world series. We say "hope" because right now there is some question of the availability of Keller who hurt his right ankle a couple of weeks ago.

If the Yankees can present their regular outfield intact, they will have a tremendous power advantage over either Brooklyn Dodgers or St. Louis Cardinals. Otherwise the National Leaguers may have a little the better of the outfield argument.

Keller has hit thirty-three home runs and batted in 122 tallies. If he had not been hurt he might still be the American League leader in both departments. In addition, he has hit twenty-four doubles and ten triples.

GOING TO PLAY

Keller says he is going to play. The chipped bone in his ankle has healed. But the ligaments that were strained are still sore.

If Charley doesn't play, his place will be taken by George (Twinkletoes) Selkirk who was a Yankee regular before Keller came along.

DiMaggio of course is incomparable both in the field and at bat. He has an average of .354, has hit twenty-seven home runs and batted in 119 runs (to and including Sunday) although he too, missed a lot of action with an ankle injury.

In right field the Yanks have an under-rated young star in Henrich, who has one of the best throwing arms in the major leagues. He is a .274 hitter, but has collected thirty-one homers and batted in eighty-six runs.

Altogether the three regular Yankee outfielders have hit ninety-one home runs this season. This compares with sixty-four for the Dodger trio and twenty-three by the Cardinals' big three.

The Dodgers have an effective power plant with three .300 hitters, including the new batting champion of the National League Pete Reiser, rookie centre fielder. He is batting at a .340 pace and leading his league in doubles and triples.

Dixie Walker, in Brooklyn's right field, is batting .308 and has a habit of coming through in the clutch. Joe Medwick in left field is batting .315 and, because he is hustling this season as he never did before, he probably is a better defensive player than either Keller or Selkirk.

The Dodgers also have a .300 hitting outfielder in reserve, Jimmy Wasdell, who likely will be used principally as a pinch-hitter during the series.

FINE OUTFIELD

The Cardinals have a fine outfield when they can get it together. Moore is the best centre fielder in the league. Johnny Hopp, a rookie is Reiser's rival for honors as the fastest man in the league and for a while also was threatening to take the batting crown from the Brooklyn star. Enos Slaughter, batting .311, is the right fielder but, like Keller, has been hurt and out of action. He too, expects to be ready to play in the series if St. Louis makes it.

The Cards have a capable replacement in thirty-seven-year-old Estel Crabtree who is batting .331 and has been a sparkplug in the struggle down the stretch.

Figures, including Sunday's games, for the outfielders:

LOUIS LOOKS MIGHTY GOOD

Brown Bomber Is Rounding Into Tip-Top Shape for Monday's Fight

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y., Sept 24 (AP).—It may not be the old Joe Louis in training up here in the Ramapo Hills but it is a reasonable facsimile thereof, so you won't be mistaking him for Mickey Mouse or a candidate for the Old Man's Home.

The Joe Louis getting ready for his date in the Polo Grounds with Lou Nova next Monday night comes closer to being the blaster of his second fight with Max Schmeling than he has been at any time since.

He hasn't slipped. As for the gossip that since Louis is due to enter the army next month, he might "loan" Nova the title—well, from the way Joe feels about it, those folks "don't know nuthin' at all."

"It's gonna be awful nice going into the army as champ," he said today. "I wouldn't want to pass that up. And you can write it right down—that's just what I'm gonna be when I put on that uniform—the champ."

He made no prediction as to how long he figures it will take him to finish Nova in his nineteenth defense of his title.

WALKER'S LONG HIT WITH BAGS LOADED BEATS THE BRAVES

Celebrates Thirty-First Birthday by Winning Game For Brooklyn, 4-2, Against Boston—Cardinals Cling to Slim Chance by Downing Pirates, 4-0—DiMaggio Hits Two Homers for Yanks

BOSTON, Sept 24 (AP).—If Dixie Walker never gets another birthday present, he'll still be way ahead of the game.

Dixie reached the ripe age of thirty-one today and celebrated with a seventh-inning triple with the bases loaded to send Brooklyn's beloved "Bums" to a 4-2 triumph over Boston Braves.

That was the ball game and another nail driven into the coffin of St. Louis Cardinals' pennant hopes. Brooklyn continues with a one-and-one-half-game margin over the Cards. Each club has three games left.

Up to that inning the game had been a tight pitching battle between Kirby Higbe, who also collected a present in his twenty-second victory although it wasn't his birthday, and Jim Tobin. The Braves pushed across a pair of unearned runs in the fourth inning on two hits and two errors to give Boston the lead it carried into the seventh.

Brooklyn added another run in the eighth when Lavagetto drew a base on balls with two away and came all the way around on a triple by Reese.

Boston's runs in the fourth were scored by Cooney and Waner. The second run came when Lavagetto fumbled a sharp blast down the third base line.

GUMBERT IN FORM

PITTSBURGH, Sept 24 (AP).—Lean Harry Gumbert, a pitcher with a sweeping curve and a stout heart, preserved St. Louis Cardinals' lagging pennant chances today by blanking Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-0, on six widely scattered hits.

The victory was a personal triumph for Gumbert, who was cast off this Spring by New York Giants, but it did nothing more than sustain the one-and-one-half-game distance between St. Louis and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Winner of five straight games before he took the mound today, Gumbert was superb as he held the Pirates helpless. There were only six Pittsburgh hits and four of these came singly in the first four innings.

After fanning the last man in the fourth to retire the side by the strike-out route, Gumbert mowed down in order the next fourteen men to face him, stumbling on Frank Gustine, who singled with one down in the ninth.

Johnny Lanning matched Gumbert in a sterling pitching effort until the sixth inning when the Cards exploded a three-run offensive which sewed up the ball game.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Sept 24 (AP). — Joe DiMaggio, getting up steam for the world series, hit two home runs today to lead New York Yankees to a 7-3 conquest of Philadelphia Athletics. They brought his season total to thirty. They also gave the Yankees three outfielders each of whom has hit thirty or more roundtrippers. The injured Charley Keller previously had collected thirty-three and Tom Henrich thirty-one.

The Yanks made two double plays and moved within one of the American League record of 187 set by Cleveland in 1928.

The defeat was Phil Marchildon's fifteenth of the season. He has won ten games.

ALBERTA BOARD MAKES ICE RULE

EDMONTON, Sept. 24 (CP)—All hockey players not subject to immediate call for the four-month compulsory military training will be given permission by the Alberta War Services Board to travel to the United States, it was announced here today by Chief Justice Horace Harvey, board chairman.

Chief Justice Harvey said in an interview that all applications for passports by persons desiring to play hockey in the United States will be dealt with on their individual merits.

He disclosed that Pat Egan defenceman with New York Americans the past two years, had been granted permission to obtain a passport and return to the National Hockey League team this season. Egan is only twenty-three years old.

Chief Justice Harvey said the ruling was based on the fact Egan was not subject to immediate call for training and added the board had turned down the application of Jack McGill, of Edmonton, because McGill is twenty-one years old and subject to immediate call. McGill played with Nanaimo Clippers last season and planned trying out with Boston Bruins this Fall.

Party Expects to Reach Plane and Bodies of Crew Today

Leaving Yale at 3 o'clock yesterday [illegible] officers, Provincial Police, guides and forest rangers late last night had reached a point 3,000 feet up the rugged sides of Old Settler Mountain, where lay a wrecked twin-engined Avro-Anson bomber and the bodies of P.O. L. W. Brooks, Saanichton; Sgt L. P. Britland and A.C.-2 D. B. Wortley, both of Vancouver. The plane was wrecked Sunday afternoon on a flight from Macleod, Alta., to Vancouver, at a spot 5,400 feet up the mountain.

Forest rangers and a crew had brushed a trail to the 2,000-foot level. They had eight miles farther to go, but were faced with a six-mile rockslide. Sleeping bags were dropped from a Patricia Bay plane to the party this afternoon and the advance guard is expected to reach the wrecked plane by noon today. This guard will include Provincial Constable R. J. Engelson, with a portable radio transmitter; Constable A. J. Sutherland and Flight Sergeant Kernaghan, of the R.C.A.F.

Trail blazers will follow, clearing a path for horses which will be taken in as far as possible. The party has three days' supply of food.

Another R.C.A.F. plane from Patricia Bay will fly over the scene this morning, dropping other supplies required for the work of rescue and salvage.

Morland, New Zealand mining engineer, to smuggle $57,000 in gold bullion out of Canada.

A. O. Crux, Jacoby's counsel, said the fine would be paid.

TWO MINERS KILLED

VAL D'OR, Que., Sept. 24 (CP).—Bodies of two men caught in a fall of ore in the East Malartic Mine, north of here, were removed from the mine tonight after rescue crews had worked almost twenty-four hours to reach them.

ASK LEADER TO CHANGE RULING

North Vancouver Conservatives Would Retain Hinchliffe as Candidate

NORTH VANCOUVER, Sept. 24 (CP).—The North Vancouver Conservative Association tonight asked Provincial Leader R. L. Maitland, K.C., to withdraw a letter he wrote last week-end in which he said he could not recognize the riding's candidate—Canon Joshua Hinchliffe—in the October 21 provincial elections as a party candidate.

In a letter to Canon Hinchliffe released last Monday, Mr. Maitland cited press reports quoting the candidate as saying he agreed "for the most part" with the Conservative party platform, but there were some points on which he did not agree. For this reason, wrote Mr. Maitland, he could not recognize Canon Hinchliffe as a Conservative candidate.

ASKS WITHDRAWAL

At tonight's meeting the association agreed that Mr. Maitland's decision was "based on a misunderstanding of the facts" and . . . "we respectfully suggest that in the best interests of the party, the letter sent to the Conservative candidate be withdrawn.

". . . We request that everyone get wholeheartedly behind our candidate . . ."

Dr. P. E. Dorchester, association president, said Canon Hinchliffe told members of the executive his statements had been "misconstrued" and that he did not oppose the Conservative platform in any sense.

Suffers Injured Hip When Thrown From His Bicycle

C. H. Ritchie, North Road, an elderly resident of Colquitz, was a patient in the Royal Jubilee Hospital last night, following an accident on Wilkinson Road, in which he suffered an injured hip and a cut on the back of the head.

While cycling along Wilkinson Road, between Glyn and Carey Roads, about 5.45 p.m., Mr. Ritchie fell from his bicycle and landed on the back of his head. Murray McNish, driver of a Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus, saw Mr. Ritchie lying on the roadway in a semi-conscious state, picked him up and took him in the bus to town.

Members of the Saanich police met the bus at the depot with the ambulance and conveyed the injured man to the Royal Jubilee Hospital, where he was attended by Dr. J. M. McKinnon. Hospital authorities said last night that Mr. Ritchie's condition was satisfactory.

Security Prices Turn Irregular At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 24 (AP)—The stock market, running before a fair buying breeze in most of today's trading, hit last-minute headwinds that tossed it about erratically.

The finish saw more declines than advances but many issues were about unchanged. The Associated Press average of sixty stocks closed .2 of a point lower at 45 after small advances earlier in the week.

The initial buoyancy seemed induced by purchases of rails and aircraft shares and these also led the turn-around. The trading pace seemed a little more brisk on the advance than in the final retreat. Turnover for the day was 551,710 shares compared with 494,060 Tuesday.

At times a scattered buying following developed for some manufacturing, chemical, metal, steel and store issues.

In the bond market, where some unsettlement had been expected, especially for United States Governments, following high pressure in the reserve requirements for commercial banks, there was a little dip at the start, then a turn around, which left final prices in the over-the-counter market with fair gains of the day. Corporate loans, like stocks, were mixed. Turnover in the Stock Exchange was $5,900,700, face value, compared with $5,600,600 Tuesday.

Among stock leaders, losses of fractions to a point or so were chalked up for U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, U.S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, Sears, Douglas, Boeing, Sperry, Lockheed, Glenn Martin, American Telephone, New York Central, Anaconda, Southern Railway, Western Union, Westinghouse and Philip Morris. Chrysler, a leader in the early buying, closed off 1-2 at 58 1-2.

Peter Rabbit Tries Out His Idea

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Peter Rabbit laughed softly.

Old Granny Fox and Reddy Fox were down on the Green Meadows hunting for some of the Fieldmice children. But the Fieldmice children had been warned by the Merry Breezes and had wisely hidden so that not one was to be found. Suddenly Reddy nudged Granny Fox.

"There's Peter Rabbit," he whispered. "He's a long way from the old brier patch."

Granny Fox looked and then she grinned. She could think of nothing that would taste so good as tender young rabbit. And Granny Fox had not forgotten how Peter Rabbit had fooled her once when she had tried to catch him. Now he seemed to be so busy over in the sweet-clover patch that she felt sure he had not seen her or Reddy. Just then Peter in the most unconcerned way began to hop in their direction. Granny Fox pulled Reddy down beside her, and they both lay as flat as possible in the meadow grass. Presently Peter stopped and turned his back to them.

"Reddy, you crawl around until you are between him and the old brier patch and then we'll surely catch him," whispered Granny Fox.

So Reddy Fox crawled through the long meadow grass until he was between Peter Rabbit and the old brier patch. Then very cautiously Granny Fox began to steal up behind Peter Rabbit.

Now all this time Peter was just pretending. He had seen Reddy Fox creep off and knew just exactly where he was hiding. Although his back was to Granny Fox he was watching her all the time, for you know Peter can see behind him without turning his head. When Granny Fox had gotten as near as Peter thought was safe he started to run. But instead of starting for the old brier patch as Granny Fox had expected he would and as Reddy Fox had hoped he would, he started in the opposite direction. He was running straight back to the sweet-clover patch.

Now Peter had been so often to the sweet-clover patch that he had worn little paths to it and it was along one of these that he was running. But Peter was very careful where he stepped, for he was watching out for the sharp little spears of Prickly Porky which he had scattered there.

But Granny Fox knew nothing about Peter Rabbit's idea or Prickly Porky's sharp little spears, and she came flying along the little path as fast as she could run, and that is very fast indeed. She was almost within reach of Peter when she felt a sharp pain in one foot. It hurt so that she fell and rolled over and over. Then she sat up and looked at her foot. It was one of Prickly Porky's little spears! Reddy Fox came up and pulled it out for her. Just a little way off in the middle of sweet-clover patch sat Peter Rabbit watching them and grinning. Reddy ground his teeth and started up the little path. Then he stopped abruptly, he had found more of Prickly Porky's little spears.

Reddy went back to Granny Fox. "I believe that Prickly Porky is up there in the sweet-clover patch with Peter Rabbit, let's go home Granny," said he.

And while Granny Fox limped off with Reddy close to her heels Peter Rabbit sat in the sweet-clover patch and laughed softly. And up on the hill sat Johnny Chuck watching and he was laughing too.

LIGHTNING FLASHES

One of the perplexing conditions that sometimes occurs is little specks which apparently float across the front part of the eye. For some time it was thought that this might be a sign or symptom of some serious eye condition. However, eye specialists tell us that these specks or spots (muscae volitantes) are just shadows made by the drops or bubbles of the liquid matter that fills the eyeball. They have no significance as far as the eyes or general health is concerned. They are harmless.

Another eye condition that disturbs many individuals is what is called "lightning flashes." Dr. R. F. Moore, who wrote about this condition before, now tells us in American Journal of Opthalmology of thirty-three additional cases.

The symptoms consist of the occurence of flashes of light most often likened by the patient to lightning, they are usually vertical (up and down) in direction and are accompanied by the little opacities or spots. They are more common in woman; among the thirty-three cases twenty-six were women. They seldom occur before middle age, of the thirty-three cases only three were under fifty years of age, the average being just over sixty years.

Now, just as the spots before the eyes has caused alarm, so even to a greater extent do these lightning flashes cause alarm.

However Dr. Moore made a careful study of these flashes fearing at first that they might be a sign of blood vessel disturbance (high blood pressure), a growth or, perhaps, the tearing of the retina which receives the impression of objects before they are sent on to the brain. He found, however, that these flashes are not of serious importance, nor are they the forerunner of any serious condition.

"It is just a symptom that does not carry any serious implication, either at present nor in the future. Neither is it a part of or symptom of migraine (one-sided headache) although the flashes occur toward the side of the head."

I am passing along this information regarding these flashes so that readers will not be disturbed should they occur. It was some years before it was learned the spots before the eyes are harmless. It is gratifying to learn so soon that these lightning flashes are likewise of no significance.

LOVE WILL COME AGAIN

CHAPTER XXVII

"She certainly has." Pat agreed. "She never has had me fooled with her high jinks. I know her too well."

Pat went to the dinette to eat and Gay hurried back into the bedroom to see about Cherry. In a little while she roused, opening her eyes.

Gay patted her hand. "I'm here darling. Would you like a nice drink of ice water?"

"I guess so." Cherry said weakly. "Is April back yet?"

"She will be soon." Gay raised her head and held the glass to her feverish lips. "There's somebody here to see you from home. He's having a bite to eat now."

Cherry closed her eyes and asked very low.

"Is it—is it Pat?"

"Who else would it be?" Gay smoothed back her hair. "He has been driving ever since he heard you were in trouble. But he's a little worried for fear you won't want to see him. You will be nice to him won't you Cherry?"

Tears squeezed through Cherry's closed eyes and she nodded without speaking.

"I'll tell him just as soon as he's through eating." Gay smiled, relieved. "He hasn't had a bite to eat all day. Poor darling."

Gay put a fresh bed jacket on Cherry and bathed her face and hands and combed her golden hair. Her face was chalk white against the pillow, and her eyes rimmed with dark circles. But she was very beautiful as Pat stood looking down at her a few minutes later.

"Cherry," he said softly. "It's—Pat, honey. How do you feel?"

Cherry opened her pansy eyes and they filled with quick tears.

"Okay," she whispered.

Pat sat down beside her, taking her hand.

"Do you mind if I sit here a little while," he asked shakily. "If you don't want me I'll go."

Cherry said with a little sob: "Don't go. Please don't."

Pat reached over and smoothed the hair back from her hot head and said gently:

"You bet I won't go, Sugar."

He felt a weak pressure on his hand as Cherry hooked her little fingers around his large brown ones, and his heart thumped in his breast as he realised what she was trying to tell him. She hadn't meant what she had said about his staying out of her life and minding his own business. She was glad he was there beside her, and she needed him.

After a long silence Cherry opened her eyes, and looked at Pat. "I can never hold my head up again. All the terrible things the papers are saying about me—"

Pat smiled as naturally as he could and exclaimed:

"The papers! What difference do they make? Why tomorrow they'll have someone else on the spot and they'll forget all about what has happened to you. What do you care about the scandal sheets."

Tears flowed down Cherry's white cheeks.

"B— but the people back home. They'll never forget it. I could never go back to Salem again. Never."

Pat leaned over and put his face to hers and said brokenly.

"You can go with me, sweetheart. And nobody will dare say anything about you. We'll go back and face it together, if you'll go with me. Will you Cherry? I love you so."

"I can't Pat. I'd ruin your career. Nobody will ever have any respect for me at home again. I've been—such a fool. B—but I haven't really done anything bad Pat. Not really."

"Of course you haven't," Pat put his lips to her cheek tenderly. "You've just been blowin' off a little steam. I've always understood."

Cherry choked childishly. "You're too good to me Pat. You deserve somebody a lot nicer than I am. I—can't ruin your life. I won't!"

"Do you love me— just a little bit?" Pat held his breath for her answer.

Cherry turned her head and found his lips and when she had kissed him tenderly she whispered.

"I do love you—terribly."

But Cherry remained steadfast in her determination not to go back to Virginia and marry Pat Hastings, even after she was able to be up and around the house. She would not ruin his career. It was then that Curt De Witt, taking matters into his own hands offered Pat a job as an attorney with Sherlock Steel.

That night out of gratitude and because she was so very fond of him April told Curt she would be his wife.

(To Be Continued)

How It Started

"NOT WORTH SHUCKS"

Not worth shucks means colloquially good for nothing and it is this sense which ties in with the supposition that shucks is akin to the Narragansett, an awsuck signifying 'shell'—of a clam, oyster, the covering of various nuts, or the husk of Indian corn.

Since these were ordinarily useless it was a logical extension of the usage of this term for anything of no value, as, say, a confederate banknote or an overmortgaged skyscraper.

Used interchangeably with Pshaw! the ejaculation Shucks! to express contempt or disappointment seems suspiciously onomatopoeic, but it is the same word of probably Amerindian origin.

RELIEF RATE IS ADJUSTED

B.C. Government Will Add 10 Per Cent to October Allowances All Round

[illegible] living the Provincial Government has decided to increase unemployment relief allowances in the province by 10 per cent This will be effective for the October allowances. The increase is in addition to the increase of 10 per cent on food allowances which was granted last December" Premier Pattullo announced at his office yesterday

The increase, it was learned, will apply on food clothing fuel and shelter and must be matched by the municipalities, which pay 20 per cent of relief rates in the ordinary way. To the Province, the increase will mean an added outlay of $20 000 a month, bringing Provincial bills to $220,000 monthly, it was stated

Though there are some exceptions due to partial employment single employable men on relief next month will receive $14 65, in place of $13.30, and single unemployable men $18 15, compared with $16.50 heretofore The base rate for an employable man with a total family of five will be $39 16, compared with $35 60 Unemployable families of five persons, that is a man his wife and three children will receive $45 10 monthly, in place of $41

The 10 per cent increase will apply on top of the 10 per cent addition made in respect of food allowances alone in December last It will be a straight addition to the total relief scale, the Province continuing to pay 80 per cent and the municipalities 20 per cent of the new rates What the increase will mean to the municipalities was not immediately worked out

With the two increases, December last and now Provincial relief scales will have moved up the equivalent of 17.5 per cent, compared with a Federal cost of living index up 14 per cent in the same period Pro- [illegible]

The question of cost of living bonuses for Provincial civil servants was still under advisement, the Premier said Independent of this, the Province has made representations to Ottawa on behalf of old-age pensioners and others in receipt of small allowances
